BATTLE FOR POSSESSION OF PEKIN STILL RAGING

ighting, Which Centers 12 Miles Southwest of Chinese Capital, Continues All Night With Gen. Wu's Forces Driving Toward Southern Walls.

FIRING ALONG THE HUN RIVER HEAVY

J. S. Naval Attache Who Viewed Conflict Says He Saw 1000 Dead or Wounded; Shells Bursting in the Trenches.

PEKIN, May 1.—The battle for the possession of Peking was continuing today, with the advantage apparently going to the forces of Gen. Wu.

Advances from the center of the fighting, 12 miles southwest of the city, were that Gen. Wu was forcing the soldiers of Gen. Chang Tso-Lin from Changshintien, and that the de of battle was rolling eastward toward the southern walls of Peking.

Artillery firing in the sector south of Peking became more intense toward midnight, and a small part of Gen. Chang Tso-Lin's army retreated toward the southwest walls of Peking.

Gen. Wu Pei-Fu's forces appeared to be developing their flanking movement on Chang's right flank, while the latter's troops were extending the Marco Polo bridge across the Huh River commanding the approach to Peking.

Observers reported that Chang had even batteries of three guns each, firing simultaneously, with trenches over the hills along the river 600 yards apart. Gen. Wu has gone from Tsingtau, his headquarters, to Liching, to take charge of the drive on Peking. His forces are using shrapnel and machine guns.

Attack South of Tientsin Planned. Wu Pei-Fu's army this afternoon had arrived at a point on the railroad between Peking and Tientsin. The telegraph staff at the station at Fengtai reported that soldiers were approaching. Part of Wu Pei-Fu's army was reported marching across the country to attack Chang Tso-Lin south of Tientsin.

Many Wounded and Dead Found. Fighting around Peking has diminished as a result of the retirement of Chang Tso-Lin's army from the immediate vicinity. Chinese inhabitants said today that the wounded and dead found outside the walls of the city indicated the fiercest fighting that had taken place in recent history.

It develops today that Gen. Feng Yuh Siang, the "Christian General," who commanded Wu Pei-Fu's operations on the battle of Changshintien, employed effective tactics. He withdrew south of Changshintien for the purpose of drawing Chang Tso-Lin's forces away from their positions. When they pursued, the Christian General's soldiers turned and delivered heavy fire, causing 15,000 of Chang Tso-Lin's men to scatter into the hills. Feng Yuh Siang followed up the retreat, took a bridge and crossed the river.

Martial Law in Peking. Martial law was declared in Peking yesterday. The American legation has requested Washington to send another warship to Tientsin. President Hsu Shih Chang yesterday issued three proclamations, calling attention to the serious consequences to China which might result from the jeopardizing of foreign interests.

The first proclamation said that the Chinese people were terrified, that merchants were suffering losses and the industry of the nation was demoralized. Therefore it was demanded that Chang Tso-Lin and his army be immediately withdrawn from Peking. The second proclamation declared that as Peking was the capital of the nation peace and order must prevail.

Emphasis was laid on the third proclamation of the necessity to protect the lives and property of foreigners and for compliance with demands that the Chinese railroad administration had sent a protest to the Government asserting that the railroads of the country face bankruptcy.

PARIS POLICE PLANE REPORTS ON MAY DAY GATHERINGS BY RADIO

PARIS, May 1.—A POLICE airplane, equipped today to assist in averting May day disorders, flew all day over Paris, with an observer studying the streets through powerful glasses, to note concentrations of crowds. Two automobiles, equipped with wireless receivers, patrolled the streets, picking up reports from the airplane.

The elaborate police precautions indicated that May day this year would be the quietest in years.

DISCOVERY OF THE TYPHUS GERM CLAIMED

Woman Doctor at Moscow Reported to Have Isolated Germ in Experiments on Guinea Pigs.

MOSCOW, May 1.—The reported discovery and isolation of the typhus germ by Dr. N. Kritch, a woman, under the guidance of Prof. Barakin, director of the Moscow Biological Institute, is confirmed by Dr. Walter P. Davenport of Chicago, acting head of the medical department of the American Relief Administration in Russia.

Dr. Kritch is director of the laboratories of Sokolnicheskaya Hospital, at Moscow, where she has been engaged for two years in searching for the germ.

Announcement of the discovery was made before a conference of 25 Moscow doctors.

Important Medical Discovery. "So far as it has gone it seems to be one of the most important medical discoveries of the century," said Dr. Davenport.

"Dr. Kritch has succeeded in isolating the typhus germ, which is bacillus shaped and in appearance much like the pneumonia germ, or pneumococcus."

"The germ was found in the brain tissue of 11 out of 12 patients who had died of typhus; the organism was then grown in the tissues of the human spleen, from which later a germ was taken and injected into guinea pigs, producing typhus symptoms."

"So far no vaccine or curative serum has been developed, but this may come later. Other physicians in Europe and America have claimed partial success in the production of typhus vaccine, but Dr. Kritch is the first to grow and reproduce typhus germ outside the human body."

American Equipment Used. The hospital where the discovery was made has been supplied with equipment by the Americans. It has long been known that a particular form of louse carries this type of germ, but, according to Dr. Davenport, the identity of the germ never before has been established.

STEALING WATERMELONS ONLY A MISDEMEANOR, COURT SAYS

This Opinion Will Be Backed Up By Every Youth in the Land, U. S. Judge Believes.

Stealing a watermelon is only a misdemeanor, Federal Judge Paris ruled today in the United States District Court, in which, he took occasion to say, he would be backed up by all the boys and young men of the land.

A new trial was asked in the case of John Ryan, who had failed to get damages for being shot by railroad agents in the East St. Louis riots. His lawyer cited a ruling that a farmer did not have a right to shoot a boy stealing a watermelon. Judge Paris said he agreed with that ruling because stealing melons, as every boy and young man knew, was only a misdemeanor, while stealing from freight cars, as Ryan had been charged with doing, was a felony.

Ryan denied he was taking part in a theft from a freight car, as Terminal special agents had testified. He denied also that he had shot at them before he was shot by them four times.

PACKERS' ACT OF 1921 HELD VALID BY SUPREME COURT

Federal Control of Stockyards Declared Constitutional in Opinion by Chief Justice Taft.

TRADERS FOUGHT THIS PROVISION OF LAW

Commission Merchants Had Contended Business Was Local and Did Not Constitute Interstate Commerce.

WASHINGTON, May 1.—The packers and stockyards act of 1921 was declared constitutional today by the Supreme Court.

The Court, in disposing of cases brought by James E. Burton and others representing Chicago traders and Stafford Brothers, in behalf of the Chicago commission merchants, declared that commission merchants, traders and dealers who buy and sell livestock after its arrival at Chicago stockyards are engaged in interstate commerce.

Chief Justice Taft, in holding Federal control of the stockyards of the country as directed in the packers and stockyards act to be constitutional, declared the yards constituted a channel through which interstate shipments of livestock flowed and further were great natural public utilities. Justice McReynolds dissented without delivering an opinion, and Justice Day did not participate.

Challenged by Traders. Federal control over the stockyards of the country, as asserted by Congress in the packers and stockyards act of 1921, was challenged by commission merchants and dealers at the Chicago stockyards, who contended in suits separately instituted by them that their business was strictly local, as interstate commerce ceased when the livestock in which they deal was delivered at the stockyards. The Government insisted, however, that the law was a legitimate exercise of the regulatory powers of the Federal Government over interstate commerce.

The two cases were brought in the United States District Court at Chicago by Stafford Brothers and others for the commission merchants, and by James E. Burton and others for the traders. Injunctions were sought to restrain the Government from enforcing, through the Secretary of Agriculture, supervision over the stockyards on the ground that such Federal interference was unconstitutional. The injunctions were refused.

Terminals of Common Carriers. The Government, in upholding the constitutionality of the act, contended the stockyards were the terminals of the common carriers over which the livestock is shipped to market and thus the livestock while passing through the stockyards is in interstate commerce, over which Congress has control. In regulating interstate commerce in livestock it is proper the Government insisted, to regulate the terminal facilities of that commerce. The "continuity" of the flow from the grower to the packer, who in most instances has his slaughter houses at the stockyards is unbroken, the Government added.

Supreme Court Withholds Ruling on Red River Question.

WASHINGTON, May 1.—The Supreme Court today declined to decide at this time what constitutes the south bank of the Red River—an issue in controversy between Texas and Oklahoma involving rich oil lands—but in an opinion delivered by Justice Van Devanter declared the claim of Oklahoma to the bed of the river was not well founded.

The Court, in a decision a year ago, held that the south bank of the river constituted the boundary between the two states, but in today's opinion did not say whether the river bluffs or the "cut bank" was the boundary.

Ruling on Rights of Claimants. The Court today held that the rights of the claimants holding as Indian allottees extended only to the middle of the river and not to the south bank, but that the south half of the river belonged to the United States. This conclusion as to Federal ownership, Justice Van Devanter said, was binding upon all claimants.

Another finding of the Court announced today is that the river along the streets in controversy is not navigable, thereby sustaining the contention of the Federal Government and rejecting the claim of Oklahoma.

RECOGNITION OF RUSSIA AWAITS SOUND CONDITIONS, SECRETARY HUGHES SAYS

WASHINGTON, May 1.—POLITICAL recognition of a new government in Russia might await the establishment of "sound business and social conditions there," Secretary Hughes declared today in response to a petition presented by a delegation of women who asked American aid toward Russian rehabilitation.

"Political recognition," said Hughes, "is dependent upon the existence of a Government that is competent to discharge and shows a disposition to discharge its international obligations. This whole matter is in the control of those who dominate the affairs of Russia. We are most desirous to do what we can to aid in Russia's recuperation, but they must establish the basis of such recuperation."

The declaration by Secretary Hughes was the first formal declaration of the policy of the United States regarding Russia since recognition of the soviet republic came a matter of prime importance at the Genoa conference. In view of the pending negotiations at that meeting, Hughes' statement was given special significance in diplomatic circles.

LADY RHONDA WINS CONJUGAL RIGHTS SUIT

British Business Woman Now Has Right to Sue Sir Humphrey Mackworth for Divorce.

LONDON, May 1.—The door to the divorce courts was opened today for Lady Rhonda, Great Britain's foremost business woman, when she won her suit for restitution of conjugal rights. Her husband, Sir Humphrey Mackworth, was ordered by the Court to return to his wife within 14 days. It has been made known, however, that Sir Humphrey will not obey the order of the Court.

He did not contest his wife's action, and letters from him were introduced in which he stated that his marriage had been a failure and that he would never live with his wife again. Under the British law the wife must wait a year for restitution of conjugal rights before she can file a suit for divorce.

"CONGRESS CAN'T SET UP GOLDEN AGE," DR. VAN DYKE SAYS

"Girl May Have to Consult Lawyer Regarding Stockings She Wears," He Suggests.

CHICAGO, May 1.—Dr. Henry Van Dyke, Princeton University and former Minister to the Netherlands, made a plea for more tolerance, asserting that the golden age cannot be set up by act of Congress. In a speech yesterday at the University of Chicago, he said:

Condemning "legal mania," which he said promises the coming of a day "when we will have so many laws that a girl will have to consult her lawyer as to the stockings she may wear," he urged that legislators seek quality rather than quantity in law making.

Referring to evolution and recent controversies over the Darwinian theory, Dr. Van Dyke said: "There is more to evolution than there is to the science of man who think they were made out of sticks and mud and prefer to stay so. If man's evolution is scientifically proved, it will not destroy religion or impede the progress of Christianity."

TCHITCHERIN SAYS TREATY HAS NO MILITARY CLAUSES

Russian Leader in Letter to Barthou Denies Secret Political Arrangement With Germany.

ASSERTS THERE IS NO HOSTILITY TO FRANCE

Spirit of Conciliation Is Evident at Genoa—Progress Made With Russian Agreement.

GENOA, May 1.—Prime Minister Lloyd George announced to a committee of the Economic Conference today that Russia was ready to give the 90 per cent of seized property, "in kind."

GENOA, May 1.—Foreign Minister Tchitcherin, head of the Russian delegation at the economic conference, has written a letter to Vice Premier Barthou of France, assuring him there are no secret military or political clauses in the Russo-German treaty signed Easter Sunday at Rapallo. He says Russia is not hostile toward France, notwithstanding France's unfriendly attitude toward Russia.

The work of completing the allied proposals to Russia was resumed today with the promise of more rapid headway than heretofore.

The last few days have brought into evidence a more harmonious spirit between the British and French delegations, despite the continuing clashes between Premier Lloyd George and M. Barthou. Confidence is felt that the divergence in British and French views can be adjusted so as to present a solid front to the soviet delegation.

Unofficial Conferences. While nothing has been officially communicated to the Russians as to the progress of the divergent views, there has been a number of unofficial conferences. M. Barthou wishes to see the proposals whipped into shape before departing for his talk with Premier Poincare, and now plans to start for Paris before tomorrow night.

Portrait of Lady Rocksavage Said to Be Royal Academy Sensation.

By JAMES M. TIOHY, London Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and New York World. (Copyright, 1922, by the Press and Publishing Co., Inc., New York World, and the Post-Dispatch.)

LONDON, May 1.—The dominant feature of the 154th exhibition of the Royal Academy is John Sargent's portrait of Lady Rocksavage, the only daughter of the late Sir Edward Albert Sassoon, and when she married the oldest son of the Marquis of Chelmsford she brought him an immense fortune.

Lady Rocksavage is thoroughly Oriental in type. Fifteen years ago Sargent painted a portrait of her mother, a daughter of Baron Gustave Der Rothschild, a woman of intensely refined and fragile beauty, and it created a sensation equal to that aroused by his picture of her daughter today.

Nowadays Sargent paints the portraits only of sitters who interest him and many consider he is at his greatest in painting Jewesses—witness his portraits of the Wertheimer sisters, daughters of the late well-known Bond street art dealer, which made them famous, although not all together for their beauty.

In Sargent's portrait, Lady Rocksavage is dressed in a Tudor costume. There is a subtle note of pathos in her expression, while, as in her mother's portrait, the beautiful hands, which hold a "magenta cyclamen," are amazingly expressive, and the four ropes of pearls and the silver brooch on the dress show the touch of a master of technique.

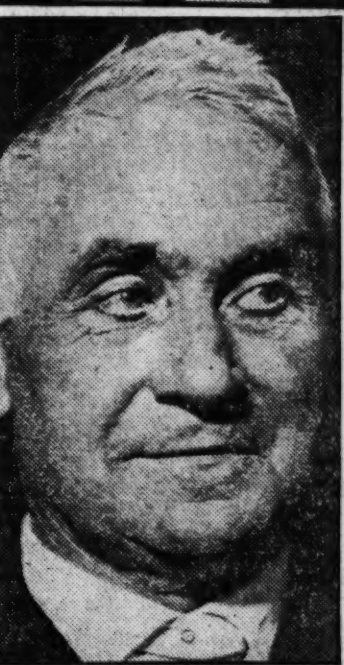

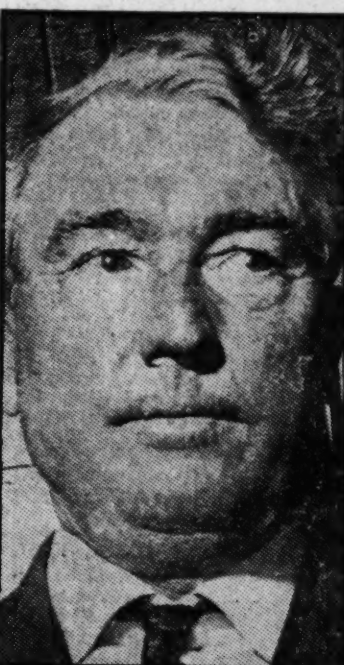

The Group of War Pictures. The distinction of Sargent's work is accentuated by a daring impressionist portrait of Lady Savage by a clever young painter, Sims, which shows her in the loggia of her house in Park Lane with her infant son. Sargent makes her hair black, which it is, but Sims sees it brownish with a blue streak, while the face in his picture lacks the fascinating, haunting expression of the Sargent portrait.

Sargent also has an immense group of British general officers of the great war, a subject which obviously did not interest him and, probably, was painted only out of a sense of duty to his adopted country. The wall of khaki is not inviting and some of the portraits are distinctly sketches.

THE nine officers of the East St. Louis Police Department whom the Board of Fire and Police Commissioners today demoted, suspended and asked to resign, are:

Chief of Police William J. Mulconery, former Sheriff of St. Clair County, and previously a saloon keeper.
Chief of Detectives James Nevill, in the Police Department about 25 years.
Lieutenant of Police Harry L. Walker, 645 North Twenty-sixth street.
Lieutenant of Police Henry C. Bishop, 732 North Twenty-sixth street.
Lieutenant of Police Joseph Schrader, 532 North Twenty-fourth street.
Lieutenant of Police Albert L. Wilson, 707 North Seventh street.
Police Sergeant Matthew O'Flaherty, 1825 Belmont avenue.
Detective Henry A. Schuetz, 1622 Missouri avenue.
Detective Luther Hellig, 26 North Thirteenth street.

Mulconery, Nevill, Four Lieutenants, Sergeant and Two Detectives Are Demoted and Suspended for 30 Days by Board Following Campanella Inquiry.

REPORT PRESENTED TO CITY COUNCIL

Findings Signed by Two of Three Members—Action in Two Cases Due to Another Incident Developed in Investigation.

The East St. Louis Board of Fire and Police Commissioners this afternoon reduced Chief of Police Mulconery and Chief of Detectives Nevill, and seven other officers of the Police Department, to the rank of patrolman. The board also suspended the nine men for 30 days and requested them all to resign from the force.

This drastic action, which came as a general surprise, follows the inquiry of the last three weeks into the death of John Campanella, who was alleged to have been beaten in the East St. Louis Police Station, after his arrest on suspicion in a murder case. The police version of the matter was that Campanella hanged himself in his cell.

The Board of Fire and Police Commissioners announced its action in a report to the City Council. The board's action, however, does not require confirmation by the Council or any other body.

Signed by Two Members. The report was signed by two of the three commissioners. Chairman George Roe and Dr. F. C. Little, the third member. John Shannon, who did not sign the report, nor did he make any coffee salesman, and Shannon is a railroad yard foreman. These three commissioners were appointed by Fred Leber, Commissioner of Public Health and Safety. Leber has been a supporter of Chief Mulconery and of the other police officials who have been subjected to criticism in the Campanella investigation.

After the Council meeting, Chairman Roe and Dr. Little, who had been asked to take charge of the Police Department, pending the appointment of a new Chief. Leber said he would do so. The sustaining of the nine officers goes into effect at once, the board members said.

In seven of the cases, including those of the two chiefs, the Board's action was the direct result of the inquiry, which was in progress three weeks into the alleged "third degree" abuse of Campanella. In two cases, the cause of the Board's action was found not in the Campanella case itself, but in other charges as to police treatment of prisoners which developed in the course of the investigation.

The board's reason for demoting the officers, suspending them and requesting their resignations, instead of discharging them outright from the force, is that, in order to discharge an officer or member of the police force the board is required by statute to file charges in writing and give the accused person an opportunity to be heard. In this case, the board said, it was found that the conduct of the officers was under investigation in the Campanella inquiry, that inquiry has not constituted a trial of the officers.

Roe, as chairman of the Board of Fire and Police Commissioners, presented the board's report, which was read by the secretary, and which referred to incidents in the Campanella investigation, particularly the testimony of Mrs. Campanella.

When the report had been read by the secretary of the Council, Mayor Stephens offered a written motion that the report should be received and concurred in "and a vote of thanks given to the commission."

SUPREME COURT IN BANC HEARS ZONING ORDINANCE ARGUED

Rehearing Obtained by City of St. Louis After Law Was Declared Void by One Division of Court.

SEVERAL OTHER TOWNS IN STATE INTERESTED

Attorneys Representing City Contend It Has Right Under Police Power to Restrict Certain Districts.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, May 1.—Validity of the St. Louis zoning ordinance, declared unconstitutional Feb. 18 by Division No. 2 of the State Supreme Court, was argued today before the court in banc, to which the case was transferred on motion of attorneys for the City of St. Louis and intervening plaintiffs.

The establishment of a junk shop by Morris Eyruff and Morris Friedman under the name of the International Iron and Metal Co., at 2026 and 2028 O'Fallon street, after Aug. 15, 1918, the date upon which the zoning ordinance became effective, led to the proceedings now in progress. The O'Fallon street address is in the "industrial district" provided for in the ordinance, from which junk shops are barred.

City Lost in Police Court.

Eyruff and Friedman were brought into Police Court on June 5, 1919, tried and discharged, the city appealing to the Court of Criminal Correction, in which they were again discharged on June 20, 1919, the Judge sustaining a demurrer to the complaining on the ground that the ordinance "was not authorized by statute or law of the State and is unreasonable and violative of various sections of the Federal and State constitutions."

Whereupon the city appealed to the Supreme Court.

The ordinance has undertaken to divide St. Louis into five zones known as first residence district, second residence district, commercial district, industrial district and unrestricted district. It provides that its terms should not interfere with any structure in use or exclude from any district any business being conducted there at time of passage of the ordinance, but does seek to regulate the character of structures and businesses in the various districts thereafter.

Judge Edward Higbee of Kirksville wrote the opinion adopted by Division No. 2 of the Supreme Court knocking out the ordinance, in which "Union Judge Richard E. Walker of St. Louis and Judge David E. Blair of Joplin, the other members of the division, concurred. Although only that section of the ordinance pertaining to junkshops was before the court for review, the Higbee opinion is broad enough to dispose of the entire ordinance, as it declares that the ordinance is "unreasonable and oppressive; that it imposes restrictions upon the use of private property that have no relation to the health, safety, comfort or welfare of the inhabitants of the city; that it is an unlawful deprivation of the use of the property without compensation or due process of law, a denial of the enjoyment or the gains of their own industry, and that the enactment is not within the powers delegated to the city."

Others Allowed to Intervene.

Although the junk dealers have gone out of business, their attorneys are still in the case, but the major fight is now being made by "outside interested parties" represented by the law firm of Kimmell & Britt, who were allowed to intervene as parties defendant amici curiae.

A number of Missouri municipalities interested in sustaining the right of cities to zone, and several civic organizations in St. Louis were allowed to intervene as parties plaintiff after the division opinion had been rendered by the Court.

City Counselor Caulfield and George F. Haid, assistant, in their brief filed with the court in banc, contend that the ordinance is within the Constitution of the United States; that it does not exceed the police power of the city and that it is within the charter powers delegated to the city. They assert that the city is authorized to "abate, suppress or regulate use of property detrimental or liable to be detrimental to the health, morals, comfort, safety, convenience or welfare

Text of Fire and Police Board Report in Campanella Case

THE text of the report of the Board of Fire and Police Commissioners of East St. Louis, in which they announced the demotion, suspension and request for resignation of the five principal officials of the Police Department and four subordinates, follows:

To the Honorable Mayor and City Commissioners of the City of East St. Louis, Ill.

Gentlemen: In compliance with the resolution passed by your honorable body on April 10, 1922, that the Board of Fire and Police Commissioners investigate the cause of death of John Campanella and to ascertain if possible whether or not he was subjected to abusive and inhuman treatment while held a prisoner in the East St. Louis Police Station, we have undertaken the investigation of the Campanella case. We were charged with the public duty of fairly and impartially investigating the matter before us. We had specific charges preferred; it has not been a trial but an investigation. Necessarily we were handicapped by the reluctance of witnesses to voluntarily give their evidence, and not being able to compel the attendance of witnesses or secure their testimony under oath. We have patiently listened to the evidence presented and after an impartial, unbiased and patient judgment of the matter, we submit the following report:

The Honorable Mayor and City Commissioners were present and listened to the pathetic plea of Mrs. Campanella. You saw the taking of the most solemn oath that the little Italian woman knew when she pressed to her lips the crucifix of her dead husband. You are familiar with the testimony of her little son who had been held at the police station with her following the death of Charles Lemon. You heard the story of Dan and Jos. McGlynn who had visited Campanella at the police station, and your attention is again called to the testimony of Dr. Wilhelm and that eminent pathologist, Dr. D. L. Harris of St. Louis, who performed the autopsy on the body of Campanella. This evidence was to our minds most conclusive. We ask you to again picture in your minds the little bereaved widow of Charles Lemon who, through an interpreter of the incidents prior to the murder of her husband, and you may perhaps wonder if this testimony was offered in justification for the failure to call a physician for the dying Campanella, or to call at his urgent request a priest to administer the last rites of his church. This testimony of the inhabitants of the city, and that it was authorized to provide limits with in which business, occupations and practices liable to be nuisances or detrimental to the health, morals, security or general welfare of the city should be established, conducted or maintained."

Recent Statute Cited.

Glendy B. Arnold and Edward M. Bassett, intervening for the St. Louis Chamber of Commerce remind the court that the last Legislature enacted a statute now in operation, authorizing cities of not less than 200,000 nor more than 600,000 population to adopt zoning ordinances. In asking the court to restrict its decision to that section of the ordinance applying to junk yards, these attorneys declare that St. Louis has not asked for a statute similar to that for Kansas City because it had been thought that the city charter contained all the police power of the State concerning cities. However, the court is of the opinion that a State enabling act for zoning, or without sufficiently amending its charter, then the city should have an opportunity to seek or arrange its legislative status so that it can again come before this court in a zoning case arising after its legal situation shall have been perfected. If again, the court is of the opinion that the wrong in this case is not in the passing of a comprehensive zoning plan but in the confiscation of the exclusion of a junk yard from a light industry district, it would be of great aid to St. Louis and other cities if the court would clearly define how far the city can go on this question.

"Does zoning for height transcend the constitutional police power? Does zoning for size or area transcend the constitutional police power? Does zoning for use transcend the constitutional police power?"

Early Decision Possible.

It is possible that a decision in this case may be obtained within the month. Should the other four judges agree with the Higbee opinion adopted by those of Division No. 2 then that opinion will become the opinion of the court and will be handed down possibly the next day. Should the other four judges decide as rendered by the court. This probably will be within a week or two, after close of the present case, which will be finished next Monday, should it be decided, however, that a new opinion is to be written, more time may lapse, as another judge will have to take the subject in hand and go over the entire ground again.

Later three men in a motor car were arrested and the police reported finding about $300 in their possession. The men were held.

NEW FIGURE AT GENOA PREACHES BROTHERHOOD

The Rev. Father Sturzo, Leader of Italian Catholic Party, Attracting Attention.

By the Associated Press.

GENOA, May 1.—A new figure stands out in the skyline of the Genoa conference. He is the Rev. Father Luigi Sturzo, leader of the Italian Catholic party, and his views, despite the fact that he had no official standing in the conference, are receiving close attention from leaders of the various parties.

He favors establishment of a kind of European federation, based on the principles of brotherly love, conciliation and co-operation, and he plans to visit the United States later to preach his ideals.

Saturday night he was a dinner guest of the British Prime Minister, David Lloyd George, and since his arrival in Genoa he has also conferred with Frank A. Vanderlip, American banker; with the German Chancellor, Herr von Rathenau, and the German Foreign Minister, Herr Schuler, and held long conferences with Premier Bratianu of Rumania and the delegates of Jugoslavia, Belgium and Holland.

"People must not think the evils of the world's suffering can be eliminated at a single stroke of a magic wand," Father Sturzo says. "The Genoa conference is only the first step on a long road—the beginning of a work which will lead after many years to the restoration of Europe and to a brotherhood of peoples."

"Once the foundation is laid in Genoa for a better understanding between the countries of Europe, and of a more conciliatory spirit, the next step to be taken will be the reconstruction of Germany, which will be advanced by the aid of the European countries, especially Germany's neighbors, and above all, France."

"It probably will be another conference which will deal with this subject when the time is ripe for it, and when present resentments are smoothed down. Meanwhile, I am working indefatigably for consummation of what I call a political internationalism."

He explained that by this means he meant a world organization inspired by Christian principles, though not necessarily aiming at the spread of the Catholic religion. He wanted to unite the parties of all countries which have ideals similar to his own, and to work for the betterment of all peoples. Already, he said, he had received adhesions from all the countries of Europe, except France and England, and he was going to those countries, about the end of May. He has received adhesions also from South American countries, but not from the United States, he said.

The board's action. He was not ready to say whether he would resign from the board as the board requests. Chief Nevill was not in his office when reporters called there.

The board's action was a surprise to those who have been using the word of cases pending before the corporation. The opinion was delivered in cases brought by the Sloan Shipyards Corporation and others of the State of Washington and the Astoria Marine Iron Works of Oregon, contending the corporation was private, and by the corporation against Roger B. Wood, trustee in bankruptcy of the Eastern Shore Shipbuilding Corporation, on the ground that a Government agency it was entitled to priority in the distribution of the bankrupt's estate.

The court reversed the first two cases which had been decided by the lower courts in favor of the Government and affirmed the judgment in the last case which was against the Government. Chief Justice Taft delivered a dissenting opinion and stated that Justices Clarke and Van Devanter joined him.

WOMEN OVERSEAS WORKERS HOLD THEIR FIRST REUNION

Those Present at Meeting in Washington Are to Be Received by President and Mrs. Harding.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, May 1.—American women who served behind the lines during the world war, whether by frying doughnuts, nursing the wounded or by doing the innumerable tasks for which only feminine hands are fitting, met here today in the first grand reunion since the armistice.

The meeting was held under the auspices of the Women's Overseas Service League, an organization which would be given a Federal charter under a bill recently favorably reported to the House. It will continue several days, and those present will hear addresses by Gen. Pershing and Ambassador Giddies and Jusserand, and be received by President and Mrs. Harding at the White House.

The purpose of the reunion as announced by Miss Margaret Lambie, chairman of the committee in charge, is to rededicate the efforts of those who served overseas to assist disabled former service men still undergoing treatment, and to all classes of emergency service.

Emergency Fleet Corporation Can Be Sued, Court Holds.

WASHINGTON, May 1.—The Emergency Fleet Corporation of the United States Shipping Board is not a government agency in the sense that it cannot be sued without its consent, the Supreme Court today decided. The decision of the court was considered highly important by the Government because of the number of cases pending before the corporation. The opinion was delivered in cases brought by the Sloan Shipyards Corporation and others of the State of Washington and the Astoria Marine Iron Works of Oregon, contending the corporation was private, and by the corporation against Roger B. Wood, trustee in bankruptcy of the Eastern Shore Shipbuilding Corporation, on the ground that a Government agency it was entitled to priority in the distribution of the bankrupt's estate.

Gen. Chang Says Wu Is Ambitious to Become a Chinese Napoleon

By the Associated Press.

PEKING, May 1.

THE opinion expressed by Commander H. H. H. Chang, an American naval attaché, who viewed the fighting near Peking Saturday, is that Wu Pei-Fu's object is to push forward and capture Peking with a view to controlling affairs from the capital.

Chang Tso-Lin, in a declaration, asserted that Wu Pei-Fu was ambitious to become a Chinese Napoleon. He declared that peace would not be possible until Wu Pei-Fu was captured and held prisoner on some island like Napoleon. When Pei-Fu was captured, Chang Tso-Lin said, he was willing to resign and assist in abolishing the Chinese military dictatorship.

During the fighting the Wu Pei-Fu forces flew airplanes over the fighting line, dropping proclamations which denounced Chang Tso-Lin as a monarchist and a former bandit.

The Soviet Government will use its influence to assist in the restoration of peace in Asia Minor and adopt an attitude of strict neutrality between the belligerent Powers there."

The British delegation's draft of the other proposed clauses of the Russian agreement resembles the French draft in one notable respect—the recommendation that the courts of arbitration to settle the disputed questions on debts should be appointed by the Supreme Court of the United States. The British draft of the article concerning war debts says that the Soviet Government and other governments will agree that specific sums shall cover all existing financial liabilities of the Soviet Government upon each of the other governments and of each of the other governments upon the Russian Government. The French draft calls for restitution of private property together with indemnity for damage caused whenever it is possible to identify the property of foreigners.

It is predicted that the conference will require another month's work.

Warsaw Dispatch Tells of Russo-German Military Agreement.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, May 1.—A dispatch to the London Times from Warsaw dated Saturday says it is reported that a Russo-German military agreement was signed in Berlin April 3. It provides that the Soviet government shall give Germany 20 warships and maintain a certain number of troops opposite the Polish frontier. Germany is to deliver to Russia arms and munitions and equipment, and instructors for poison gas warfare, and also airplanes and wireless equipment.

Lenine Directing Soviet Affairs at Genoa.

By the Associated Press.

RIGA, May 1.—Notwithstanding the two operations he recently has undergone, Nikolai Lenine, the Bolshevik Premier, has been taking an active hand all along in directing Soviet affairs at Genoa, by radio and wire, according to official Soviet circles in Riga.

He is said to have received reports from Genoa and dictated telegrams to the Russian delegates on the day the operations were performed.

Saturday Lenine sent instructions to George Tchitcherin under no circumstances to agree to the allied demands for the full restoration of private ownership to former foreign concerns in Russia and to oppose the proposals for compensation for nationalized and requisitioned property.

According to Russian official circles here, Lenine takes the view that as the allied demands have been widely discussed, not only by the Soviet press but also at public meetings, the Soviet Government feels justified in rejecting the demands, to which it is contended the peasants in particular object strongly. The peasants take the view that if the demands should be accepted they would have to pay not only for the land, but the buildings and other equipment which they now hold free from the Government.

Coolies Carrying Wounded.

The streets of Peking yesterday were unusually animated with picturesque confusion among the people of many nations and vehicles and animals. Frequently the streets were borne by coolies, were to be seen passing through the streets with wounded from the fighting zone. Camels, carts and automobiles are being pressed into service to take valuables to places of safety.

Even the jinkish coolies carried troops at Tientsin report they are ready to seize the Peking-Tientsin railroad if traffic is interrupted. The American legation has suggested an additional gunboat be sent to Tientsin. The French cruiser Crampeau has arrived at Tientsin.

The residents of Peking feel safe, notwithstanding the booming of cannon heard from the direction of Changhsien. The gates of the city here are heavily guarded. They are being kept open, but it is expected they will be closed in the event of any indication of a rush toward Peking by defeated troops.

Attempt to Assassinate Leader of Central Forces Reported.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, May 1.—An attempt to assassinate Gen. Wu Pei-Fu, leader of the Central Chinese forces, was made last Saturday, says a Peking dispatch to the Evening News, which said the report had not been confirmed. The General was said to have been slightly wounded and his assailant was captured and executed.

An airplane used by the Chinese forces flying from Peking to Fengtai, dropped a bomb but without much damage near a train carrying a detachment of American marines to Peking, says a dispatch to the London Times from Peking.

FORD SAID TO HAVE NEW FERTILIZER PROCESS

Engineer Gives Senators Impression It Would Be Used at Muscle Shoals.

By the Associated Press.

May, chief engineer for Henry Ford, to the Senate Agricultural Committee when it began examination today the Ford modified proposal for purchase and lease of the Muscle Shoals properties.

May declined when questioned regarding the process to give the committee any detailed information, but he said he was confident that it was Ford's purpose to produce the cheapest soil foods possible and exhaust every available source for means to attain that objective.

Government chemists, attending the committee hearing, later said they had heard unofficially of experiments being made by chemists at Ford's employment, but none as any information as to finding of new process.

May agreed to further modify the offer by specifying that the cost of fertilizer should be based on the cheapest sort of power that could be used.

The witnesses added that Ford intended to invest about $50,000,000 in developing Muscle Shoals industry, including a vast program for creating power production.

Pedestrian Killed by Car Carrying Party From Dance
Alleged to Have Zigzagged Across Road.

Three persons lost their lives and eight others were injured, three seriously, as the result of automobile accidents yesterday in St. Louis and St. Louis County. Those killed were: Rudolph Helwig, 14, of McLaren Station, St. Louis County.

Francis Becker, 72, a former patient at the city infirmary.

John Kelly, 60, of 829 Geyer avenue.

Rudolph Helwig died at Christian Hospital, 3540 North Grand avenue, at 12:50 a. m. today of a fractured skull and amputation of the right leg suffered at 8 p. m. when he was run over by an automobile driven by Thomas R. Akin.

Waterman avenue, president of the Laclede Steel Co., on Hall's Ferry road, at the intersection of Champlain avenue, near McLaren Station, Akin, after taking the boy to the hospital, went to the Page Boulevard Police Station, where he said he was driving north on Hall's Ferry road when the boy ran from behind another automobile and bumped against the side of Akin's car. He tried to catch hold of the left rear fender and was knocked under the car, the left rear wheel passing over him. Akin was not detained by the police.

Kelly, a widower, died at the city hospital at 9:25 p. m. of a fractured skull, fractured ribs and internal injuries suffered two hours earlier at Broadway and Angelica street, when he was knocked down by a Ford coupe occupied by a man and woman who fled before witnesses could establish their identity.

He was crossing Broadway from the south side of the street, on his way to visit his daughter at 4028 North Ninth street. The automobile was southbound in the southbound street car tracks. Everett Clark, 4211 North Second street, and Mrs. Lillian Waller, 4104 North Broadway, who witnessed the accident, said the automobile was running at about 25 miles an hour. Kelly was knocked down 30 feet and was unconscious when picked up. The automobile continued south on Broadway at high speed, the witnesses said.

The St. Louis Safety Council posted a $100 with the Police Department today as a reward for the arrest and conviction of the driver of the car. The money comes from a fund established by Albert von Hoffman for prosecution of motorists involved in serious cases of reckless driving.

Pedestrian Said by Witnesses to Have Zigzagged Across Road.

Becker was killed at 2:30 a. m. yesterday, when walking along Big Bend road, near Watson road, in Kirkwood, by an automobile driven by Harry Schook of Kirkwood, who, with a party of friends, was returning home from a dance.

Witnesses testified at the Coroner's inquest in Kirkwood that Becker was walking along the road in zigzag fashion, crossing from side to side as he went along. Schook's automobile was the last of four machines occupied by persons returning from the dance. The drivers of the three preceding machines managed to stop before Becker, but as Schook's automobile approached, Becker evidently became confused and walked directly into the path of the automobile, it was said. He was hurled to the side of the road, and was dead when picked up. The body, awaiting examination, is at the city undertaking establishment in Kirkwood.

Farmer Seriously Injured Mile West of Clayton.

Conrad Hartmann, 26, a farmer, residing on the Watson road, St. Louis County, suffered a fractured skull, a fractured left leg and internal injuries when he was knocked down by an automobile driven by an unidentified driver at the intersection of the Log Cabin Club, at 8:30 p. m. He was taken to St. John's Hospital.

Burke was released on a $5000 bond pending an investigation of the accident. He said he was driving west and that Hartmann, who was walking west in the road, suddenly started across the road in the path of the automobile. The driver, whose fender of which was bent in the accident, is held at Clayton as evidence.

Lawson and Roland were two of the party of seven that set out from Naples with the intention of seeing the world, and America first, but the plans for which were brought to an abrupt end when Mrs. Roland, an uninvited guest, bobbed up in New York and caused her husband's arrest.

This was followed by the arrest of Hobbs. Both men are English gamblers, as is Frank L. Dwyer, an American, who accompanied the men to this country.

Hobbs and Lawson were taken to Ellis Island a week ago Friday. There was a hearing, and although not ordered deported, Thomas B. Felder, lawyer in the case, said they had waived extradition, and on promise to depart had been permitted to pay their fare.

So when the Royal Mail packet Oropesa steamed out of pier 42, North River, Saturday, it was with Lawson and Roland safely on board. Three who failed to see them off were Miss Elsie Stevens, an English actress; her fiancé, Ralph A. M. Haslan, an English barrister, and her chaperon, Mrs. Jane Kelland.

Arrived With 27 Trunks.

Lawson, Roland and Dwyer fastened themselves on the Haskan in March at Naples, and accompanied the party to New York, Haslan, according to reports, was separated from $15,000 en route.

Another who failed to bid them adieu was the mysterious "Merry Widow" in the case, Mrs. Jane Lewis, worth, according to her lawyer, $25,000,000. Mrs. Lewis parted with $35,000 during the journey.

She was, however, honored primarily to look out for Mrs. Lewis' interests, said today it would be a shock if her real identity were known. Felder said that an idea of the fact that she arrived in this country with "27 trunks."

Mrs. Lewis has agreed to take her 27 trunks to California soon, and then depart for her home in Australia. Felder said he was keeping her in seclusion until the "thing" blew over, when quietly she would go her way.

Mrs. Roland was found today by a reporter in an apartment at 10 West Fifty-eighth street. Two physicians were treating her for ptomaine poisoning. She was said to have been stricken Friday night after eating a meal in a restaurant which was so serious that she was removed to Bellevue Hospital and kept there until early this morning.

"Merry Widow" Benefactor?

Felder said she would sail for England probably on the Aquitania; that while she was virtually penniless, transportation had been provided for her and assurance given that any expenses incurred by her in New York would be paid.

Mrs. Roland suspects that her benefactor is none other than the "Merry Widow." Mrs. Jane Lewis, said these friends.

Mrs. Roland said she was taken to Ellis Island Friday and warned not to discuss the case with newspaper men, but if she did she would be arrested. She told her friends that "the real victim in this affair is myself."

Frankie Dwyer, who accompanied Roland and Lawson here on the Adriatic and leased the apartment for them at 10 West Fifty-eighth street, still is in New York. He has an apartment at 30 West Fifty-fourth street, where his mail is delivered daily. There said today she had not seen him for a week.

Felder said that the immigration authorities first had thought of deporting both Mrs. Lewis and Mrs. Roland, but had consented not to do so on their promise to leave shortly. Felder said the authorities had decided disapprovingly on the entire party.

MOVIE THEATERS WITHOUT MUSIC

About 75 Film Houses Affected by Failure to Sign Contract With Musicians.

All moving picture theaters in the city will be without orchestra music today, as a result of the failure of theater managers to sign a new contract with the Musicians' Union, covering the ensuing year. The managers demanded wage reductions of 30 per cent and a smaller number of musicians to constitute a minimum than is specified by the union. More than 75 theaters and about 450 musicians are affected.

The old contract expired last night and the musicians walked out with the understanding that they would not return today unless the various theater managements signified their intention of signing.

This was not done in any case, and Frank Geeks, president of the Musicians' Union, said today that members of the organization are taking a "vacation" for the time being, at least.

"Other Places to Play."

"If the theaters do not need our services we will find plenty of other places to play," Geeks said. "People love and appreciate good music, and if they don't get it in the theaters they will get it somewhere else. The musicians have a right to sell their product and to set their price on it, and if anyone does not want to pay that price we do not have to sell it. The union has made no definite plans regarding the situation, and none of the musicians are taking it very seriously."

Geeks said he does not believe any of the theaters will have mechanical music of any sort. One of the theater managers pointed out that if this were done, the union stage hands and machine operators would walk out, because the music thus supplied would not be played by union musicians.

Some of the musicians give music lessons and have incomes other than their salaries as members of the movie orchestras. It is generally believed the musicians will build up their incomes from such sources, and that the situation will remain as it is for some time.

The minimum wage for union musicians at present is $45 a week. Musicians at some of the theaters are paid as high as $75 a week, however. Some of the theaters in the Grand-Olive district have made their orchestra a feature elaborating their picture programs and in these orchestras many more musicians have played than was specified in the old contract as a minimum.

Four vaudeville theaters have contracts with the union which do not expire until the end of the season, June 1. These theaters will have orchestra music.

THOUSANDS ATTEND CONCLUSION OF "MUSIC WEEK" OBSERVANCES

Band Concert at Municipal Theater
Yesterday Morning Was Directed by Frank Geeks.

"Music Week" reached its conclusion yesterday with several observances, among which was a band concert at the Municipal Theater in the morning, attended by some thousands of persons. Admission was free, and the performers were supplied by the Musicians' Mutual Benefit Association. Frank Geeks directed.

An ensemble of about 100 pieces played Meyerbeer's Coronation March from "Le Prophète," Elsborg's "First Heart Throb," Weber's "Invitation to the Dance," Chopin's "Funeral March," and Hebert's "Serenade."

For Sousa's "Stars and Stripes Forever" and "The Star-Spangled Banner," the band was reinforced by about 50 additional trumpeters, trombone players and drummers.

SENTENCED FOR CUTTING MAN

Michael (Grumby Mike) McDonald, 48 years old, of 1439 North Seventeenth street, pleaded guilty today to a charge of assault with intent to kill, and was sentenced by Circuit Judge Miller to three years in the penitentiary. He was charged with cutting William Leonard, of 5054 Beacon avenue, a fellow employee at Mulvaney Hospital, with a knife, on Feb. 20.

Turner Williams, 26, a negro, of 2612 Stoddard street, was sentenced to two years in the penitentiary on his plea of guilty to attempted burglary in the second degree, for entering the store of Ernest Gardner, 124 Compton avenue, Feb. 25.

DEMOCRATIC CHAIRMAN PLANS FULL TICKET

Joseph J. Mestres to Call Meeting
Soon to Begin Work on Organization.

Joseph J. Mestres, chairman of the Democratic City Committee, announced today that he would call a meeting of the committee within the next 10 days, probably May 10, to get every member of the committee active at work on organization and the making up of a ticket for all legislative and local offices.

"The meeting will have nothing to do with the senatorship," Mestres said. "I do not know how the committee stands between Reed and Long, and do not believe anybody else does. The committeemen should give less attention to the senatorship and more to getting out a ticket of representative Democrats."

"Candidates should take care of themselves in the primary, and the committee should devote itself to organization with the November election in view."

Mestres said that it was the intention of the committee to have at least one candidate for every office and for the Legislature in every district, even though the districts might be overwhelmingly Republican.

"We should nominate men for the Legislature who will have some standing with the men from out in the State, and be able to do something for St. Louis," he said. "We ought to do our best to turn a ticket which will attract votes from all classes of citizens. In the past it has been too much the habit to put men on, simply because they were on the ticket before."

"We must give attention to our judicial ticket, and see that lawyers of standing are the nominees."

Mestres said the committee would undoubtedly consider the question of endorsing such candidates as received the approval of the Bar Association.

FINAL SETTLEMENT OF THE
E. H. LARKIN ESTATE APPROVED

Ranken Trades School to Receive $180,115 More as Residuary Legatee.

Bringing Total Up to $432,115.

Filing of the final settlement today in the estate of Eli Hillel Larkin, former vice president of the National Ammonia Co., who died April 16, 1920, by the executor, Charles C. Collins and the St. Louis Union Trust Co., shows that the David Ranken School of Mechanical Trades receives $180,115, as the residuary legatee. The school already had received a specified bequest of stock in the National Ammonia Co., valued at $372,000. Judge Holtkamp approved the settlement.

Larkin's will was contested by a nephew and niece, who received only small bequests in the estate, which was appraised at $611,532. The case was settled out of court. Many specific bequests were made to religious and charitable organizations, the largest being $192,916.67 to St. Louis Children's Hospital. Larkin had been a close friend of David Ranken, founder of the mechanical trades school.

BLEVINS DEFENDS LONG IN REPLY TO LIONBERGERFormer Circuit Judge Says Candidate
Served With Credit in Positions
Requiring Trained Lawyer.

John A. Blevins, former Circuit Judge, yesterday issued a statement defending Breckinridge Long, candidate against Senator Reed for the Democratic nomination for United States Senator, from an attack on him Friday by Isaac H. Lionberger.

Blevins' statement questioned the sincerity of Lionberger in proclaiming Reed the "apostle of fundamental democracy," saying that Lionberger was a Democrat who occasionally voted the Republican ticket.

The Blevins' statement briefly reviewed Reed's differences with the Democratic party in the last campaign, and branded as unfair Lionberger's statement that Long was "neither a lawyer nor a statesman," pointing out that Long had served with credit in positions requiring the services of a trained lawyer, and that as Third Assistant Secretary of State he had charge of the diplomatic and consular service and the bureau presided over by him handled practically all the confidential communications with foreign nations. Blevins said Long's experience gave him much broader knowledge of national affairs than Reed had when he entered the Senate in 1911.

CHANGES IN STATE PRIMARY LAW DRAFTED

New Constitution Association
Has Recommendations Ready for Submission to Convention.

A revision of article 5 of the Missouri Constitution, which has been prepared by the New Constitution Association and which will be submitted to the constitutional convention in Jefferson City May 15, contains provisions to make possible the election of fraud in primary and constitutional amendment elections, and seeks to repeal some of the antiquated provisions governing elections in the present Constitution.

The proposed article provides that men and women equally shall enjoy all civil, political and religious rights and privileges, except that women shall not be required to serve on juries.

Contests Provided For.
Specific provision is made for opening the ballot boxes in contests of primary elections, and in grand jury investigations of alleged primary frauds, which is not possible under the present Constitution. There also is a provision that all Boards of Election Commissioners shall be bipartisan, and that only the two dominant political parties shall have representation on such boards.

One proposed new provision of the Constitution is that after Jan. 1, 1934, no person, not then eligible to vote, shall be eligible if he is unable to read the Constitution in the English language. This provision is not to apply to those whose inability to read is due to physical disability.

Amendment as to Aliens.
Repeal of the present constitutional provision permitting foreign-born persons to vote on first papers is proposed, and in place of that is inserted a provision that no foreign-born person may vote until his naturalization is complete and he has been a citizen at least 60 days. The Legislature is given authority in the proposed article to enact laws to permit the nomination of an or all candidates for office by either primary or political party convention.

The soloists will be Adolf Smukal, violinist, of Chicago, and Paul Schulze, tenor.

The chorus numbers will be Luther's battle hymn, "A Mighty Fortress Is Our God"; "Blessed Are They That Hear the Word," by Franz Reuter, instructor of music at Concordia College, New Ulm, Minn.; MacDowell's "Hymn of the Pilgrims"; Herman Mohr's "Creation Hymn"; and Schubert's "Omnipotence." Smukal will play Viennese "Prelude and Polonaise," and Schulze will sing "Open the Gates of the Temple," by Mrs. J. F. Knapp.

WOMEN VOTERS MEET IN ST. LOUIS TUESDAY

City and State League to Hold Annual Convention for Three Days and Elect Officers.

The League of Women Voters of St. Louis and Missouri will meet in annual convention tomorrow, Wednesday and Thursday at Hotel Claridge. The past year's work will be reviewed, and the part the league will take in the political campaigns of the year will be decided. Sessions will be held three times daily.

Mrs. William Palmer, Lucas of the California Voters' League, who is an official of the national body, will be the principal guest of honor. The convention will select a new State president and an entire staff of State officials. The City League also will elect new officers, at the Thursday morning session. But one candidate has been named for each of the offices, Mrs. D. O. Ives as president for the members not affiliated with either of the two leading political parties, Mrs. Clarence Beck for the Republicans and Mrs. Fred H. Held for the Democrats.

The convention is scheduled to close with the morning session Thursday, after which there will be at 12:30 p. m. a conference luncheon on the proposed county unit bill. Gov. Hyde has been invited to make the argument for the bill.

An "extraordinary session" of the Missouri State Senate will be the attraction tomorrow night. It will take place at the Board of Aldermen's chamber in the City Hall and will be presided over by Lieutenant-Governor Hiram Lloyd. The desks assigned to the 34 State Senators will be occupied by prominent men and women of city and State.

The convention will end with a banquet Thursday at 7 p. m. at the Claridge. The guests will listen in at a program of talks by radio. Music will be furnished by negro jubilee singers, and a surprise is promised as a climax to the evening. The new officers, city and State, will be formally installed.

'BITUMINOUS COAL OUTPUT AT HIGHEST SINCE MINERS' STRIKE

Last Week's Mark Said to Be Due to Greater Demand and Not to Workmen's Return.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, May 1.—Bituminous coal output during the last week reached the highest mark since the beginning of the miners' strike, the Geological Survey announced yesterday. Production of anthracite, however, remained at practically zero.

Telegraphic reports as to production covered loadings through Thursday and indicated, it was said, that if there was no unexpected slump, the total soft coal output for the week would approximate 4,150,000 tons.

The increase during the week, the survey's statement declared, came largely from the nonunion districts of the Middle and Southern Appalachians. It was not due, the statement added, to the return to work of the striking miners, either union or nonunion, but rather to increased demand resulting in greater activity in those districts which have remained at work.

In an analysis of the coal situation made public today, the United States Chamber of Commerce declared that at the present rate of production and consumption there was no danger of a general coal shortage for at least six weeks.

MAN FREED OF MURDER KILLS SON, SHOTS WIFE, ENDS LIFE

Tennessee Doctor, Tried for Slaying Man, in Double Tragedy on Country Road.

By the Associated Press.
CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., May 1.—Dr. W. P. Allen of Dayton, Tenn., who last December was acquitted of the murder of Burch C. Gardinier, member of a well-known Tennessee family, last night killed his 9-year-old son, W. P. Jr., attempted to kill his wife and committed suicide. The double tragedy occurred as the three were returning from an automobile ride.

Mrs. Allen said Dr. Allen, who was driving the car, suddenly stopped at the side of the road, drew his pistol and shot the child through the head. She jumped out on the other side, Mrs. Allen said, and ran as Allen started shooting at her. Falling in this purpose, Allen turned his pistol upon himself.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY TAX FAVORED BY GUNDLACH

Small Levy Would Give St. Louis
World-Wide Reputation,
He Asserts.

A city mill tax for the support of the Missouri Historical Society is advocated by John H. Gundlach, former president of the Civic League and former president of the City Council, in a letter to the Post-Dispatch.

His communication, provoked by the discussion of the Art Museum tax, points out that the society, although almost without income, has managed to assemble a large amount of rare and interesting material, and declares that a tax of three-fourths or even one-half mill on the $100 valuation would greatly facilitate the work of research.

A part of Gundlach's valuable collection of U. S. Grant mementos, including several manuscript letters written by Gen. Grant, were on display in a window of the National Bank of Commerce last week. Gundlach's letter to the Post-Dispatch follows:

"The discussion raised by Comptroller Nolte's statement as to the validity of the Art Museum tax has been fruitful in calling attention to the big things that a community can accomplish by co-operation; that wonderful power by which every individual contributes his share toward the community's good.

"Can Afford Special Taxes.

"In distributing taxes collected we naturally allot them to the most necessary community needs as they visualize themselves to the collective mind, but there are tax assessments also that have a special appeal to the culture and reputation of the city, which lift its standing above the commonplace and fix its degree of desirability as a place to visit, see, and in which one can learn. To say that a community cannot afford the payment of such a tax is drivell. I am sure Comptroller Nolte did not have the repeal of the museum tax in mind when he raised the question. St. Louis also has a Zoo tax, which has been productive of giving our city an enviable reputation in this direction.

"The celebration of the Grant centennial has again suggested to some minds that a Historical Society endowed by a city tax allotment would be most proper and helpful in supporting an institution of great promise for the city as a center of historic research and learning.

"The Missouri Historical Society now has a wonderful lot of Americana, autograph letters, and manuscripts, pertaining particularly to the history of the central west.

Site on Community Property.

"Community conscience has contributed scarcely anything, excepting the site which is on community property and the splendid home secured from the remainder of funds of the World's Fair. However, this was again accomplished through the foresight and wisdom of a few of the men controlling the finances of the World's Fair. Its possessions today are the heritage from a hubber of enthusiasts who foresaw what the acquisition of these priceless articles would mean for the future. Some items now worth hundreds of dollars were acquired at a nominal price or were the gift of friends, but most of them were acquired by the indefatigable interest and energy of men of the stamp of the late Judge Douglas and the loyal support of Mr. Bixby and a few others.

"You cannot depend, however, always on such unselfish support. Societies in other places receive, compared to ours, much more support from the elements and material for the city, state and nation.

"There is no more fascinating study than our world's history; there is no more profitable one for a city, state or nation. History furnishes the elements and material for the city, state and nation.

"Benefits of Small Tax.

"A tax of three-quarters or even one-half mill wisely expended in acquisition would soon give St. Louis a world-wide reputation through its Historical Society, and students would flock here to engage in research. The student of history in all universities and colleges would know this to be one of the outstanding well springs of historic learning.

"The time to buy is now. Public libraries are on the increase; rare material on the decrease. Why not a half mill tax for the Historical Society?"

ADDED ENJOYMENT

Those eminent authors, Fontenelle and Voltaire, made constant use of coffee while writing.

The one lived to be a hundred, the other eighty-four, years of age.

If coffee did not prolong their lives, at least it made them more pleasurable.

As anyone can testify who has enjoyed this delightfully exhilarating beverage at CHILDS.

Mellow in flavor and enriched with milk, CHILDS coffee is nourishing as well as stimulating.

DANDRUFF SURELY
DESTROYS THE HAIR

Girls—if you want plenty of thick, beautiful, glossy, silky hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for it will leave your hair and ruin it if you don't.

It doesn't do much good to try to brush or wash it out. The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop, and your hair will look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and four ounces is all you will need, no matter how much dandruff you have. This simple remedy never fails.

'READY,' SAID CROKER ON COMPLETION OF VAULT

Former Tammany Chief Supervisor Construction, Finished Week Ago Thursday.

By the Associated Press.
DUBLIN, May 1.—The last moments of Richard Croker were peaceful and happy. The former leader of Tammany Hall passed away with resignation, in the presence of his wife, her brother-in-law, R. D. Garrett of Oklahoma; Dr. Lennon of Dublin, and Father Kelly, the parish priest of Sandymount. The American flag flew at half-mast over the residence of Croker, Glencarn Castle, yesterday. Burial will take place in the vault in the grounds of Glencarn Castle, the erection of which Croker superintended himself. The vault was completed a week ago last Thursday, when the old political leader remarked: "I'm ready to go now." A public funeral is not likely, as Croker expressed the wish that he be laid to rest quietly.

Garrett said he came to Ireland last December, when he received news that Croker was seriously ill. A month ago, he added, he thought he would be back in the United States by this time, as the patient had improved so much. Ten days ago, however, there came a turn for the worse. There was a rally, but four days before he passed away, Croker began to sink.

BUSINESS IMPROVING STEADILY, COMMERCE DEPARTMENT SAYS

Fundamental Condition Good; Boom Movement Unlikely March Survey States.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, May 1.—Increased production, more stable prices and a larger export trade are shown in the survey of current business issued today by the Commerce Department. "From the figures available in recent months," the department said, "it is clear that fundamental conditions are much better and there is every reason to expect business to improve steadily, although perhaps slowly."

"With world conditions as they are today, there is no likelihood of an immediate boom movement. Reconstruction in Europe is far behind what it is in this country and in general big economic movements are world wide in their scope."

Imports of unmanufactured wool in March showed a large increase over recent months, exports of cotton cloth increased nearly 50 per cent over February and were the largest of several months, while in agreement with other phases of the iron and steel industry, there was a distinct improvement in the March export trade.

Increased operations in the automobile factories were noted, the petroleum business set new high records in March in all directions and a marked increase in the production of news print paper was noted. Building materials were more active, exports of copper, wheat and beef and other food products increased, and while a slight increase in rise in wholesale prices was noted, retail prices were on the decline.

U. S. OFFICER IS WOUNDED BY GERMAN MAY DAY MARCHERS

American Attacked as Auto Runs Into Procession by Mistake in Steering.

By the Associated Press.
MAYENCE, Germany, May 1.—During a May day demonstration here today a Captain of the American Army was wounded by the man-festants.

A column of May day demonstrators was marching through the Rheinstrasse when, through a mistake in steering, the American Captain's automobile ran into the procession. The machine was stopped immediately, but it was at once surrounded and attacked by a shrieking, furious crowd, which began to pound the car. The Captain, believing his life to be in danger, drew his revolver. One of the men in the crowd tried to disarm him, but the officer sank back, wounded in the shoulder.

The chauffeur tried to aid the Captain, but the crowd turned on him, covering him with blows. French rendarmes extricated the American car and made several arrests.

BUTCHER ROBBED IN STORE

Fred Weiss Knocked Down, $55 in Cash Taken.

Two men entered the butcher shop of Fred Weiss, 1908 Madison street, at 11 a. m. today and, after knocking Weiss down, escaped with about $55 in cash and $47 in checks. The first robber entered and ordered a sirloin steak. While Weiss was cutting the steak, the second man entered, flourishing a revolver. They ordered Weiss to get behind the refrigerator and the first robber knocked him down when he was slow in complying with their demands. They threatened Weiss with the butcher knife and revolver. Having obtained the money and checks from the cash register, they ran out of the door, almost knocking down a customer who was entering. They ran west one block to a waiting automobile, dropping the butcher knife in their flight.

JOSEPH B. THOMAS SLATED AS POSSIBLE GOLDSTEIN SUCCESSOR

Gov. Hyde Makes Statement Regarding Contemplated Vacancy of Circuit Clerkship Here.

JEFFERSON CITY, May 1.—Gov. Hyde today told a Post-Dispatch reporter that if Circuit Clerk Nat Goldstein was appointed United States Internal Revenue Collector in St. Louis and resigned his present position to accept it, he would appoint Joseph B. Thomas, member of the Twenty-eighth Ward, as Circuit Clerk.

His obligation to Thomas remains, the Governor said, "I would have appointed him to succeed Goldstein if Goldstein had accepted the postmaster position and I will appoint him if Goldstein resigns to accept the collectorship."

Thomas was the first organization politician in St. Louis to announce himself a supporter of Hyde in the primary. He later opposed Kiel for the nomination for Mayor, supporting Burkhart, and was refused appointment by Kiel to the job of Supply Commissioner, which he had held for several years under Kiel.

62 men in 100 picked this over-size pen

Resembles Chinese-red lacquer - Guaranteed 25 years
Holds nearly twice the ink of the ordinary

FROM a tray of assorted pens 62 men in 100 selected the new Parker Duofold first of all when we asked them to pick out the most appealing pen.

"Handsome than gold!" was the verdict of many who saw this large, graceful barrel in Chinese-red with smart black-tipped ends, and neat gold pocket-clip.

This classic Pen was created by Geo. S. Parker, inventor of the leak-proof "Lucky Curve." It took him 30 years to perfect it, but it took America only six months to make the Duofold the leading seller at hundreds of prominent counters.

Its native Iridium point is as smooth and life-enduring as a hard jewel bearing, and is guaranteed 25 years for wear and mechanical perfection. Step up to the first pen counter and give your hand the pleasant sensation of the Duofold's business-like feel. Take one away for 30 Days' Free Trial.

If your dealer's supply is not in, give him your order, subject to your approval after trial. Or write us, giving your dealer's name.

News of the Business World

By Wire to the Post-Dispatch

FORT WORTH.—Business, which was just beginning to assume satisfactory proportions in this district, with every prospect that April would be the banner month for the last two years, suffered a serious setback because of the flood last week. Vast areas were affected, including large centers like San Antonio, Fort Worth and Dallas. Tens of thousands of acres were inundated, but the damage was not heavy and the setback to trade was only temporary. None of the communities swept by high water was forced to call for outside assistance. Throughout the Southwest they are busy clipping wool. The clip will bring prices averaging better than 80 cents a pound, which is 12 cents more than the average for last year. This means growers will receive $2,150,000 more for their wool than in 1932. This estimate is based on the production of last year, which was about 18,000,000 pounds. Production this year is expected to equal or exceed that figure.

Planting and seeding has been delayed in some districts but the entire farm and range outlook is excellent.

SENTIMENT IN EAST GOOD.—BOSTON.—Sentiment in business and banking circles of New England is cheerful. It must be admitted, however, that this feeling is due more to a study of the fundamental conditions than any specific favorable development in this district.

The officials of the Federal Reserve Bank of the district confirm the fact that New England is behind the remainder of the country in general improvement. This is due almost entirely to labor trouble. Most of the cotton mills in Rhode Island and New Hampshire still are closed by strikes as are those in Lawrence, Mass.

HATS.—NEW YORK.—Straw hat manufacturers expect the largest season in many years. The prices of the more expensive grades have been reduced materially, according to dealers.

GENERAL TOPICS.—PHILADELPHIA.—An inquiry directed to the Board of Trade for a brewery with equipment which could be utilized in the manufacture of soft drinks, brought 10 offers from the brewing plants here. This is taken to indicate brewers have little confidence in the possibility of the return of beers and light wines.

DETROIT.—Employment conditions have improved so greatly here that the American Legion Employment Bureau has discontinued service of free lunches. The manager of the bureau said today that every ex-service man here who really wants one can be provided with a job. The calls for skilled workers both at the legion bureau and that of the veterans of foreign wars is greater than the number of applicants.

LUMBER.—CHICAGO.—Prices for yellow pine are advancing in step with the increased demand in this district and Douglas fir prices also are up.

BUILDING MATERIAL.—PITTSBURGH, Pa.—Building materials are moving freely in response to an increased building program here. The Chamber of Commerce housing corporation will erect 800 dwellings this year.

BOND DEMAND ALIVE.—SAN FRANCISCO.—The demand for high-grade municipal and school bonds seems almost unlimited in this district and constitutes one of the strongest features of the present financial situation. These bonds are absorbed almost as soon as they are put on sale. When several lots of such bonds were offered here last week there were bidders representing.

Don't Scratch Teeth

That's not the way to fight film

Don't try to whiten teeth by using harsh abrasives. Any enamel you remove is gone forever. Polishing agents should be mild, as they are in Pepsodent. Cloudy teeth are due to dingy film. There is now a way to combat it—a scientific way. Millions now employ it. Leading dentists the world over now advise it. This is to urge that you try it—free—and see how your teeth improve.

stantly increasing, because the tooth brush did not end the film.

How to fight film

Dental science has for years sought ways to fight that film. Two effective methods have been found. Able authorities have amply proved them. Leading dentists the world over are urging their adoption.

A new-day tooth paste has been created, called Pepsodent. It complies with modern requirements. These two film combatants are embodied in it, for daily application. Careful people of some forty races are now using this new method.

Mistakes corrected

Pepsodent also corrects some great mistakes made in old-time tooth pastes. It omits all soap, all chalk. Science has proved that soap and chalk defeat proper tooth protection.

Soap reduces the starch digestant in the saliva. Pepsodent multiplies it. That is there to digest starch deposits on teeth, before they ferment and form acids.

Soap reduces the alkalinity of the saliva. Pepsodent multiplies that alkalinity. That aids in neutralizing mouth acids—the cause of tooth decay.

That unsightly film

Teeth are dimmed by film-coats. At first the film is viscous. But it clings to teeth, gets between the teeth and stays. Then, too, film is the basis of tartar.

Those film-coats absorb stains, making the teeth look dingy. The ordinary tooth paste does not end it. Soapy tooth pastes even make it harder to remove. That's why so many teeth brushed daily lose their beauty just the same.

The teeth's great enemy

Film is the teeth's great enemy. Most tooth troubles are now traced to film. It holds food substance which ferments and forms acids. It holds the acids in contact with the teeth to cause decay.

Germs breed by millions in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea. All these troubles have been con-

People Notice It. Drive Them Off With Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

A pimply face will not embarrass you much longer if you get a package of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The skin should begin to clear after you have taken the tablets a few nights.

Cleanse the blood, bowels and liver with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the successful substitute for calomel; there's no sickness or pain after taking them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do that which calomel does, and just as effectively, but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating.

No one who takes Olive Tablets is ever cursed with a "dark brown taste," a bad breath, a dull, listless, "as good" feeling, constipation, torpid liver, bad disposition or pimply face.

Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color.

Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints, and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective result. Take one or two nightly for a week. See how much better you feel and look. 30c and 50c.

HAIR OFTEN RUINED BY CARELESS WASHING

Soap should be used very carefully, if you want to keep your hair looking its best. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is Mulsified coconut oil shampoo (which is pure and greaseless), and is better than anything else you can use.

Two or three teaspoonfuls of Mulsified in a cup or glass with a little warm water is sufficient to cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich creamy lather, which rises off easily, removing every particle of dirt, dandruff and excess oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get Mulsified coconut oil shampoo at any pharmacy, it's very cheap and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months. Be sure your druggist gives you Mulsified.

Cold nights are holding back the development of the vines in the grape districts, although present indications are for a large crop.

AUTOS.

ST. PAUL, Minn.—Automobile sales in this district are fully double those of this time last year, according to local dealers. The heaviest demand is for medium-priced pleasure cars. Demand for service cars is increasing and the accessory trade is good.

NEW ORLEANS, La.—Sales of nearly all makes of motor cars are showing steady improvement, although the lower-priced makes are doing the best business.

COPPER.

BUTTE, Mont.—The Diamond Mine of the Anaconda Copper Co. resumed operations in full today, bringing the total employed underground by the company to 7300.

HANCOCK, Mich.—In response to a query sent to the copper mines of this district by the Chamber of Commerce, answers were received declaring that the time and conditions were not propitious for inaugurating manufacture of copper products in this district.

EGGS.

ATLANTA, Ga.—Eggs have advanced again. After selling as low as 25 cents a dozen, they have risen here to 30 cents.

CANDY.

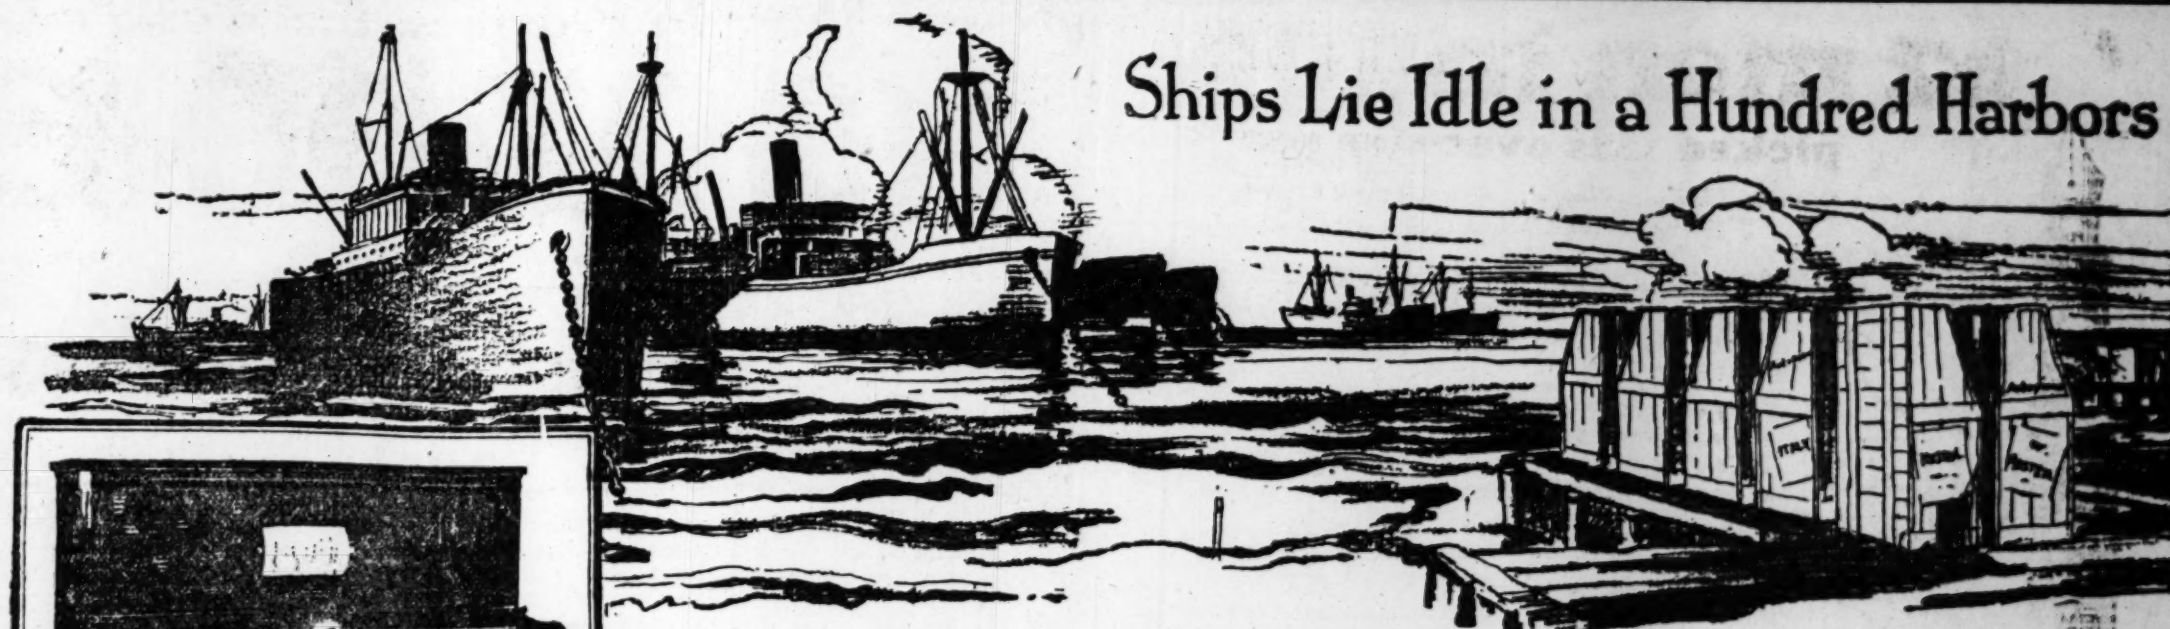

ATLANTA, Ga.—Bargains in candies are getting to be a habit in this city. Certain advertised brands selling usually at $1 are being sold as low as 69 cents a pound at week-end sales.

JEWELRY.

NEW YORK.—There is a widespread demand here for earrings, especially of the lower-priced varieties. The most popular designs are drops swung from fairly long chains.

$160 Stolen From Saloonkeeper.

Angelo Domini, saloonkeeper at 2000 Locust street, told the police last night how a game of cards cost him $160 yesterday evening. When three friends came in and suggested a game he took his money and papers from the cash register and placed the package beneath a cigar case. At 11:30 p. m., when he closed up, he discovered the money was gone from the package. He had seen no one enter, he said.

Ships Lie Idle in a Hundred Harbors

Enforced distribution of player-pianos made for the foreign trade

Many hundreds of specially built Autopianos originally intended for foreign markets now made available for home use and offered at unprecedented prices

IT'S an ill war that blows nobody good! Hundreds of American families will benefit by the disturbed industrial situation following the Great World Struggle. The Old World faces grave financial problems through the over-inflation of currency and the shrinkage in money standards. Credits are impaired and buying power is crippled. Ships lie idle in a hundred harbors. Naturally, American manufacturers must seek a home outlet for goods that were meant for foreign sale.

This Is Your First Opportunity to Buy a Genuine Export Player-Piano

Look in our windows! Never before in this city have you seen a genuine export player-piano. Never before have you had the chance of buying one of these superb instruments at any price!

Because these are real "nobles"—titled and crested instruments made originally to resound through the stately halls of foreign manor houses—really noble music.

Here is how it happens. The Autopiano enjoys the royal favor of foreign rulers and potentates. It is endorsed by the King of Spain, the Shah of Persia, His Holiness the Pope, Cardinal Mercier, the Queen of the Belgians, and other dignitaries.

This, together with a high order of musical merit, created a great foreign demand for this masterpiece of art and ingenuity; but this great market is stagnated at this time because of unsettled foreign business conditions.

So now the Autopiano Company has diverted these truly regal instruments to the home market, and allotted them on a pro rata basis among a few of its leading representatives in prominent cities, including ourselves.

We are fortunate in securing 235 of these superb export instruments and they are now on display in this store. This sale begins today.

How the Export Piano Differs From the Regular Style

Among far eastern peoples there is a decided change in tastes, tendencies and temperaments. These traits necessarily must be considered in catering to foreign markets.

In Eastern Europe and the Orient there is a preference for a bit more ornamentation in pianos—a more elaborate finish on the cases. Thus, player-pianos intended for certain foreign countries are built in a more ultra finish in order to meet a more fastidious taste in externals.

They are also built with greater strength and sturdiness and with more rigid reinforcements to withstand the ravages of a long sea voyage and the effects of dampness and changing climatic conditions.

All of which is value plus—something added, a further touch of utility and distinction which separates these courtly and aristocratic player-pianos from the ordinary. This exceptional beauty and extra value are shown here—now.

The world's loss is America's gain! Come tomorrow and see something you may never see again. And you will find prices and inducements equally—ASTONISHING.

We unite with the manufacturer in giving an irrevocable five-year guarantee on every Autopiano in this sale.

TRAIN HITS PUMPER, 2 ALTON FIREMEN HURT

Fire Apparatus Caught and Crushed Between Engine and Coal Car at Crossing.

Two Alton city firemen were seriously injured when a pumper collided with a Chicago & Alton passenger train at the crossing at Ninth and Plaza streets at 9:30 a. m. today. The pumper, which the city purchased 15 months ago for $12,000, was wrecked when it was caught between the locomotive and a coal car on a siding.

The injured men are Driver Thomas Krepel, fractured left leg and internal injuries, and Pipeman Harry McDermott, skull fracture and injuries to the body. Pipeman Yerkes Hagerman and Derby Long jumped and escaped injury.

The fire company was responding to an alarm, and was going east on Plaza street. Just as it reached the railroad tracks a steep grade, and Driver Krepel speeded up to take the hill. There is a watchman at the crossing, and witnesses said he signaled the pumper to stop, but that Krepel apparently tried to beat the train.

Seeing, too late, that he could not get across, he swung the pumper north, the direction that the train was going, and tried to run up the railroad tracks ahead of the locomotive. The pumper, however, was caught and crushed between the engine and a steel coal car which was standing on a siding.

GREEK POLITICAL WORKER HERE

A representative of the Venizelos or Liberal party of Greece is visiting St. Louis, on a tour of the United States, to gain moral support of Greeks here for his party's movement towards democracy, and in opposition to the Constantine Government. He is Eustratios Couloumakis, former member of the Greek Chamber of Deputies and Prefect of Athens under the Venizelos Government.

He said the Greeks here are being urged, first of all, to be good American citizens, and then to transmit to their former countrymen in Greece their ideals of democracy. He said he was only working so that his country, the mother of democracies, might become again a spirited and powerful democracy.

PART TWO.

MEASURES TO BE CONSIDERED FOR NEW CONSTITUTION ARE DISCUSSED BY PROF. LOEB

Suggestions Relative to Improvement in Administration of Justice in Missouri Are Set Forth.

THIS is the ninth article in the series Prof. Loeb is writing for the Post-Dispatch on the new Constitution, to make which delegates will assemble in Jefferson City next month. The series will be continued from day to day until it is completed. Prof. Loeb has been one of the most earnest agitators for a new organic law for the State and is widely known as an authority on constitutional subjects.

By PROF. ISIDOR LOEB.

Dean of the Faculty of Business and Public Administration and Professor of Political Science and Public Law in Missouri University.

JUDICIARY—CONTINUED.
THE Supreme Court at present consists of Division No. 1, with four members, and Division No. 2, with three members. Each division has to assist in the composition of three members. There are three courts of appeals, each with three members, and three commissioners of the St. Louis Court of Appeals. This makes a total of 25 judges and commissioners of the higher courts. There are also 38 judicial circuits, each with at least one Circuit Judge. The Greene, Jasper and St. Louis County circuits each have two judges, making a total of 67 Circuit Judges. There are also a number of special criminal courts and courts of common pleas, but for the most part, these courts are held by the judges of the circuits in which they are located. In 1921 the General Assembly passed a bill abolishing the 78 circuits and some of the special courts, and creating 34 new judicial circuits. As this bill was held up by referendum petitions, a new measure creating the same number of circuits was passed at an extra session in the same year.

This act was declared unconstitutional, the Supreme Court holding that the referendum on any measure that had been referred to them. There is a county court of three members elected in each county with jurisdiction in road cases and minor judicial matters, but whose main business is the administration of county affairs. Two or more Justices of the Peace are chosen for each township and police or municipal courts are provided for cities.

Dissatisfaction Was Widespread.
Despite the efforts made by constitutional amendment and statute to expedite and improve the administration of justice, criticism and demand for reforms continued to be manifested. So widespread was the dissatisfaction that Gov. Major in 1914 appointed a code commission of 15 lawyers and judges to consider the revision and simplification of the civil and criminal procedure of the State. This commission in its report stated that the demands for reform were: "First, for a simplified and less expensive procedure; second, for a reasonable response to changing conditions on the part of the courts; and, third, for a higher professional standard at the bar." The commission drafted 18 bills embodying its recommendations for changes in the statutes and some of these were carried into effect by legislation. Recognizing that permanent relief could be secured only through changes in the organic law, the commission submitted the following statement in support of its recommendation for the calling of a constitutional convention:

"As heretofore suggested, there are certain conditions of the present system of procedure which can be remedied only by constitutional amendment. The experience of the past several elections has demonstrated the fact that our people are not inclined to modify our organic law by piecemeal.

"We believe that we have too many kinds of courts. Multiplicity of courts creates confusion and loss of judicial efficiency with consequent increased expense to the State and litigants.

"To accomplish a reasonable reorganization and unification of our courts, and to effectuate a number of the vital and most desired changes in our procedure, a re-drafting of the entire article of the Constitution relating to the judicial department of the State would be necessary, or else the submission of many separate amendments, which, as has been abundantly demonstrated, is wholly impracticable.

"We have, therefore, refrained from recommending any constitutional amendments for submission to the people or to the General Assembly, but for the reasons suggested we are of the opinion that provision should be made for a constitutional convention to the end that our organic law, in the particulars mentioned, may be made responsive to changed and constantly changing conditions."

Proposals for Reform.
The recommendations of the Missouri Code Commission for a reduction in the number of kinds of courts and the unification of the judicial system have been frequently urged in this and other states. The constitutional convention will be called upon to consider proposals for establishing a unified court. One plan would be to have the entire matter of judicial organization to the Legislature, which would thus be free to introduce such system.

In view of our past history of distrust of the Legislature, it is not

Pope Expresses Hope for Success of the Genoa Conference

By the Associated Press.

H OPE for the successful outcome of the Genoa conference as a notable aid in achieving the establishment of peace on a secure basis was expressed by Pope Pius in his notable letter to Cardinal Gasparri, which has aroused deep interest in conference circles here. The text of the letter reads: "The keen desire by which we are animated to see established in the world a new peace which does not merely consist in a cessation of hostilities, but principally in spiritual reconciliation causes us to follow with solicited attention, in fact, with anxious trepidation, the work of the Genoa conference. Asks for Prayer for Success."

"We have already invoked our faithful people to invoke with fervent prayer the benedictions of God on this conference. We cannot hide the intense satisfaction we feel at seeing removed, thanks to the good will of all, the serious obstacles which, from the very beginning, seemed to make the possibility of agreement remote."

"Nobody, in fact, can doubt that the happy issue of such a great assembly, which includes representatives of all the civilized nations, will mark a historical date for Christian civilization, especially in Europe, the peoples of which have suffered so much in past conflicts and through its recent and most deplorable consequences, and rightly desire that through the agency of the conference the danger of new conflagrations shall be removed as far as possible."

"May full attainment at least prepare the basis for a future and not far distant advent of a new era of peace, of which one may say, with the Bible, that justice and peace have joined, remembering that the exigencies of justice must be tempered with charity."

"Such a return to the normal state of human relations in its essential elements, in conformity with the dictates of reason, which is also the Divine command, will work greatly to the advantage of both conquerors and conquered, but especially to the advantage of those unhappy peoples of Eastern Europe which already have laid waste by war, by internecine struggles and by religious persecutions, are now in addition decimated by famine and epidemics, while they embrace in their territory so many sources of wealth that they might be strong elements in social restoration."

"May our word of compassion and comfort, together with that of our lamented predecessor, reach these populations, though they are divided from our communion by an ancient difference, and may these unhappy populations also receive the ardent desire of our paternal heart to see them enjoy, together with us, the same gift of humility and peace which are expressed by common prayer in the holy mysteries."

"And if by the height of misadventure, even if this conference attempts at sincere pacification and lasting agreement should fail who can think without trepidation how much the condition of Europe, already so deplorable and threatening, would be aggravated with the prospect of continual suffering and the danger of a conflagration which would involve in its ruin all Christian civilization."

first two, but it seems to the committee that there is much to be gained by the administration of equity, provided the courts are free to administer whatever relief the case warrants and the distinction is made of one of practical administration and the other of legal principle. The judges of the whole court, though there is much to be said for committing it to the third, the third branch would be a single ultimate decision. On the other hand, the judges of the whole court, though there is much to be said for committing it to the third, the third branch would be a single ultimate decision.

Tenure and Term of Judges.
It has already been indicated that the states have abandoned the original rule of appointive tenure for a term of years, but have been demanding relief from an intolerable situation which requires drastic action if no other adequate remedy can be found.

This plan has also the endorsement of a committee of the American Bar Association, which included the following in its recommendation: "The whole judicial power of each state, at least for civil causes, should be vested in one great court, of which all tribunals should be branches, departments or divisions. The business as well as the judicial administration of this court should be thoroughly organized so as to prevent not merely waste of judicial power, but all needless clerical work, duplication of papers and records, and the like, thus obviating expense to litigants and cost to the public."

While the whole judicial power should be concentrated in one court, the court should be constituted in three chief branches: (1) County courts (including municipal courts), having exclusive jurisdiction of all petty causes, all of them to constitute in the aggregate one branch, but with numerous local courts where papers may be filed, and as many places for hearing of causes in each county as the exigencies of business may require; (2) a superior court of first instance to be called by some appropriate name, having a defined, original, exclusive, general jurisdiction at law, in equity, in probate and administration, in guardianship and kindred matters, and in divorce, this court to have numerous local offices where papers may be filed and at least one regular place of trial in each county, and to be divided into at least two, and probably three, divisions, each having jurisdiction of actions at law and other matters requiring a jury or of kindred nature, (b) one for probate, administration, guardianship and the like. The first division might be called the law division or the common pleas division, the second the equity or the chancery division and the third the probate division. Possibly many jurisdictions would desire to unite the

GOMPERS WARNS COUNTRY AGAINST RECOGNIZING SOVIET

Such Action by U. S. Would Be Base Betrayal of Civilization, Labor Leader Says.

"PREDATORY FINANCE HAS APPETITE UP"

Millions of Dollars Being Spent for Propaganda, and Bribes Being Offered, He Asserts.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, May 1.—Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, yesterday issued a statement declaring that recognition by the United States of the "Bolshevik tyranny" in Russia would be a "needless and base betrayal of civilization."

Declaring that American public life was being flooded with propaganda, and that "predatory international finance has its appetite up and believes it sees loot in Russia," he asserted that nothing would be more fraught with disaster to humanity than American recognition of the Bolshevik power in any form.

Lenine, Gompers denounced as a "bandit merchant," ready to "take what he can get in exchange for the heritage of a people rendered helpless by him and his." A fund of millions of dollars, he asserted, was being used in the United States for Bolshevik propaganda, out of which "bribes have been offered in places where the American people can ill afford betrayal."

Text of Statement.

"Developments at Genoa cannot escape the notice of thinking Americans, though the full significance of what is happening there seems generally lost in most of our newspapers."

"A number of persons have asked me whether, in the event that England and other European nations recognize the Bolshevik Government, the United States should not follow."

"I can think of nothing that would be more fraught with disaster to humanity than American recognition of the Bolshevik power in any form—whether by entering into another 'economic conference' at which America would sit cheek by jowl with Soviets, or in any other manner."

"Amazing Propaganda."
"In making these statements I am mindful of the amazing propaganda with which American public life is being flooded; I am mindful of the intrigue which is everywhere about us, and, above all, I am mindful of the policy of the American-Anglo-German banking group, which, perhaps, constitutes the most dangerous element in the whole chain of pro-Bolshevik effort in America, because it has its hands eaten into by immature reporters and editors who fall victim to deception or blandishment."

"The truth is that predatory international finance has its appetite up and believes it sees loot in Russia. I know of nothing more farcical than the attitude of European statesmen and financiers toward the Russian muddle. Essentially it is their purpose as laid down at Genoa to place Russia in economic vassalage and give political recognition in exchange. Recognition in exchange for concessions. They know immediately that the coal, the oil, the timber and future products of the Soviet Union will be theirs."

Calls Lenine Bandit Merchant.
"Russia herself is on the bargain counter, behind which stands Lenine, a bandit merchant, to take what he can get and what will serve his purpose in exchange for the heritage of a people rendered helpless by him and his. America, let us hope, will continue to stand for Russian economic independence as well as political freedom."

American Business Is Asked to Join in That Helpless Escape.
"The American business is asked to join in that helpless escape, that miserable and contemptible business, the looting of that vast domain, and to finance the efforts of certain American bankers engaged in mortgaging the world, are willing to sow among their own people the fiendish, anti-democratic propaganda of bolshevism, subsidizing, buying, intimidating, cajoling. There are splendid and notable exceptions, but the great powers of the American-Anglo-German financing combinations have set played by a people on their knees."

"Bolshevik propaganda has been organized exactly along the lines of prewar European intrigue, overlooking nothing that went to make up the old international German and Russian espionage systems."

"It is impossible to violate confidence, but I am going to make here certain statements on this point for which I have ample proof."

THE photograph shows him on the steps of his home in Washington during his first public appearance in many months last Friday to welcome 5000 women from the convention of the Pan-American Women Voters' League at Baltimore who made the pilgrimage to express their appreciation of his efforts to promote world peace and harmony among nations. He thanked his visitors cordially for their interest and expressed his regret that he could not make an address because of his physical condition. He appeared very weak and had to be escorted through the door of his home by a negro attendant.

HARDING URGED BY BRYAN TO SEND AGENT TO GENOA

FAILURE TO ENTER LEAGUE DEPLORED

He Predicts That Revenue Will Be One of the Dominant Issues in Coming Campaign.

By the Associated Press.

LINCOLN, Neb., May 1.—In a letter to President Harding, which he made public here last night, William Jennings Bryan urged that a representative of the United States be sent to the Genoa conference, not necessarily to bind this country to the conclusions of that conference, but to advise with the nations of Europe in an effort to bring about the rehabilitation of the world.

Bryan quotes from the speech of Lloyd George, at Genoa, in which the British Prime Minister deplored the absence of the United States at the conference, and adds: "He (Lloyd George) is dealing with a very trying situation and he needs the help of the United States. It would not hurt us to have a representative there if it went empowered to advise only with the understanding that our nation is not bound by any conclusions reached, except as our people, acting through Congress and the President, or at a referendum, may expressly approve."

Deplores Failure to Enter League.
"Failure of the United States to enter the League of Nations was a national and international calamity, the responsibility for which was divided between the refusal of Republicans to ratify the covenant without reservations and the refusal of the Democrats to ratify the treaty with reservations. The covenant was so much more important than the reservations that it was unspeakably folly for either side to subordinate the idea of international co-operation to the minor details about which they differed."

"But a mistake in the past should not prevent wiser action in the present and future. It matters little whether it is called a League of Nations or an association of nations or anything else. Our nation should use its influence in aiding to secure world peace."

Urges Friendly Co-operation.
"Mr. President, your sense of responsibility to God must soon compel you to propose an appeal to the estranged nations to forget the past and begin the work of friendly co-operation in the upbuilding of Europe. You made a splendid beginning in calling the arms conference, but what will its work avail if Europe is to become again a slaughter house?"

"You are a man of prayer. Mr. President—you are the first President to have the Lord's prayer in a public address. I beg you to seek guidance in this world crisis. 'Who knoweth whether thou art not to come to the kingdom for such a time as this?'"

"With assurances of respect, I am, my dear Mr. President, yours very truly,

"WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN."

Predicts Revenue as Coming Issue.
At a "harmony" banquet Saturday night Bryan predicted that revenue would be one of the dominant issues of the forthcoming national campaign and said "the reaction now going on may bring about a Democratic landslide."

Bryan launched into a discussion of what he saw in the future for the Democratic party "resultant from the weak leadership of the present administration, a leadership that is not in harmony with the masses and an administration that has been criticised by its own party."

"We have the worst scared Congress today that we have had in a long time," Bryan declared. "They are nervous about the farmer; they are nervous about themselves; they don't know which way the farmer is going in November."

Bryan said that the administration treasury had used "the boldest piracy" in his knowledge of national affairs when the revenue bill was submitted, and that the result "probably will turn the campaign on taxes."

"I believe the Democrats can control the next Congress, but it was never a better time to begin than now," Bryan asserted. "Getting control of Congress now will assure us a foundation for the presidential campaign."

"As I am not a candidate for any office, perhaps I can speak with less restriction," said Bryan. "I am in favor of the soldiers' bonus, created in my manner, that of raising the bonus from the treasury of the State that grew rich during the war—the profiteers."

The Levees Held.

Y OUR good paper, and many others throughout the country, recently have carried news stories of the tremendous flood waters which have just passed down the Mississippi River to the Gulf of Mexico, the off-run from 31 states, and the inference has been left, if some of the stories did not bluntly say so, that much destruction was done in the lower Mississippi Valley. The contrary is true. The Mississippi was held in her floodway this year. We of the lower valley believe, at last, that the great stream has been conquered.

This spring's flood ranks third in all the history of the Mississippi River high waters. Under the old conditions that obtained before the levees or rather embankments were thrown up to hold the river to its floodway, we would have had overflow of land for many, many square miles. The great floods of 1913, before the retaining walls were to their present standard spread west from Memphis for 40 miles and did thousands of dollars in damage. But the lesson taught by that flood has endured. The levees have been in height and width. Water backed up against them this spring until in some places a wall of water 30 feet high or more was held. There were one or two weak places where the strange forces of the river current threatened to eat through, but emergency measures were timely. Although the Mississippi went eight feet higher than the flood or bank-full stage, it overflowed no land outside its channel.

It must be that those members of Congress who voted on appropriation of $50,000,000 in 1917 for protection and development along the lower Mississippi, today have a feeling of great comfort. The aid that was given after long years of effort to secure Government help, prevented another tremendous disaster in this portion of the nation this spring. It has enabled the farmers and stock raisers employed by the Government to safeguard the rich valley lands which are being so rapidly reclaimed and put under the plow in the Southeast Missouri, Eastern Arkansas, Eastern Louisiana and Western Mississippi, and in Tennessee, Kentucky and Illinois, an area in excess of 10,000,000 acres of as fertile soil as can be found on the face of the globe.

And what a great contrast this year's high water presents to that of former floods. Farmers have gone ahead with their plowing and their planting, and the communities have gone about their activities, scarcely aware that the Mississippi was on another rampage. Save for the newspaper stories of the huge columns of water, they knew little about it. Ten years ago they would have packed their belongings and put their homes in order, prepared to take to the uplands when the water came. This year they went calmly about their tasks, feeling confident that the Mississippi, at last, is under control in her lower reaches.

Surely the building of the Mississippi River levees must rank high among the achievements of American ingenuity. Fifteen hundred miles of continuous embankments to safeguard property is an accomplishment of magnitude, gone through with in the face of colossal obstacles. Yet few people in the United States, outside the bounds of the protected territory, know that the Mississippi has been walled in. They readily believe, consequently, that when the river gets to the flood stage it leaves ruin and destruction in its wake, and especially is this true when the news stories do not paint a wholly accurate picture. It leaves a feeling with the people of the lower valley that they are given slight credit for the tremendous amount of reclamation work that they have been doing these many years, and they feel hopeful that the Post-Dispatch will lend its aid in correcting those old ideas.

Stewing Night.

NOTICED in the "Letters From the People" column recently an inquiry as to what had become of the ancient "Daylight Sailing." Does he remember when, in summer, we would stew at 8 and 9 o'clock? Or in his memory atrophied? Who wants to get up in the dark at 6 o'clock with the afore-mentioned effect at "Night?"

Appreciation.

I WANT to thank you for the splendid publicity which your paper gave the two little sisters who are so anxiously awaiting a good home where they may be happy with their foster parents and also have the companionship of each other. The story of these two children who are wards of the Board of Children's Guardians, was so well and appealingly presented that I am sure the children will at last have their greatest wish fulfilled.

The Board of Children's Guardians appreciates your interest and co-operation and desires you to extend its gratitude to those of your assistants who participated in this wonderful piece of work, which will not only result in bringing a happy home to these two little ones, but additional applicants for other children in our care.

WHERE LONG IS RIGHT.

The Post-Dispatch has called attention to several mistakes in the campaign appeal of Breckinridge Long, candidate for the Democratic nomination for the United States senatorship against Senator Reed, notably his unqualified denunciation of the Harding and Hyde administrations, charging them, in an appeal to partisanship, with all the ills from which we suffer, his condemnation of the just policy of the Hyde administration in equalizing assessments on the constitutional basis of the cash value of all property, and his failure to define his attitude on the encroachment of Federal power on State and local government and the violation of rights in the methods of enforcing regulatory laws.

In one respect, however, Mr. Long is doing good service. He is calling attention to the loss of moral prestige and material prosperity and of safeguards against the menace of war by our refusal to participate in international co-operation for the maintenance of peace and the rehabilitation of Europe. He properly charges this to unscrupulous Republican partisanship and, in opposition to Senator Reed, he is advocating that we put our moral strength behind the cause of world peace and our material strength back of the effort to restore industry and trade, upon which both peace and prosperity depend.

In helping to win the war for democracy against autocracy we did splendid service for justice and liberty, but in refusing to help in establishing peace and restoring amicable and profitable international relations—in winning a just and complete peace—we failed of our duty and abandoned the standards which we ourselves have set up. The heroic part Lloyd George is now playing as the leader of the effort at Genoa to bring order and amity out of chaos and hostility and to set up a covenant of peace and co-operation between nations should be supported by our moral and material strength. Upon the effort of the British Premier and those who are aiding him depend the peace and prosperity of the civilized world. Our peace and prosperity depend upon it. Yet we stand idly by, letting others do the work the outcome of which involves our peace and prosperity.

Mr. Bryan's fervid appeal to Mr. Harding, upon both material and moral grounds, to put the strength of America back of the effort to build the foundations of peace and revived prosperity, the very means of existence, in war-stricken, passion-torn, poverty-harassed Europe, is based on sound reason. Having, as he says, helped to create conditions that make for peace in the Pacific, we should now help to build the structures of peace and restored civilization in Europe. This course is in harmony with the ideals, the mission, the duty and the interests of America.

The cause of peace and restored plenty which is essential to peace is greater than any party or any special form or program. Some sort of international association which is supported by the strength of all the nations is an imperative necessity.

ROBBERY AND INSURANCE.

To insure the payroll is a necessary and legitimate precaution against loss, but when insurance invites carelessness in the handling of large sums it becomes a burden to society and a boon to outlaws.

The sums taken in payroll robberies and daylight holdups in St. Louis in the last year or two are amazing. Some, if not many, of these thefts probably were due to the failure of the robbed concerns to take all possible precautions. And the reason why they have not taken precautions is believed in many cases to have been insurance.

"Why pay guards or put armed men in charge of cash consignments," is the question, "when we already pay insurance?" So the bandits walk off with the greenbacks, easy loot when taken from boy or girl messengers or men who might care more if they knew their burdens were not insured.

The results are several. In less than a year and a half in St. Louis $78,496 has been taken in payroll robberies. In two years bank messengers have been looted of $54,685. As losses are suffered by the insurance companies, premium rates shoot upward and the losses become a burden upon the community. More than that, the large sums thus stolen are subscribed to the cause of outlawry and murder. They encourage crime, and by taking the lives of policemen, the guardians of the peace, they become a menace to public safety.

For insured proprietors of wealth to take insufficient precaution against banditry, to say the least, is unethical. It should be so branded in public opinion and in the codes and resolutions of chambers of commerce. There should be an end to easy robberies which militate against insurance companies and against public welfare, peace and safety.

FLESH POTS OR INK POTS.

A canvass for a senatorial nomination has just ended which—significantly, perhaps—has failed to command the wide attention it would once have had. We refer to the Beveridge-New battle in Indiana. Is not this a contest between progress and reaction, idealism and materialism, culture and pragmatism, light and darkness?

Mr. Beveridge, as Young Man Eloquent, bore the banner of aspiration along the groveling levels of the now legendary Hanna dynasty. He was derided for his presumption. He was spanked for his impertinence. But Indiana loved him, rejoiced in his errand, doted on his shining periods and kept him in the Senate despite the Old Guard's wiles and wrath.

The Indiana of that early Beveridge triumph has historic interest. Indianapolis had not become the ganglion of that network of wires over which the trolleys now croon the song of commercialism. The "Magnificent Ambersons" of Tarkington were still magnificent. Riley was, in truth, a poet laureate whom Indiana daily read. Wallace had died, but Ben Hur was a secondary Bible and the chariot race was the piece de resistance of school programs and literary club affairs. Majors had brought back to the American calendar "The Days When Knighthood Was in Flower." A slight and solemn looking youth had arisen to spoof at the provincialism of Hoosierdom in a tongue Indiana had never spoken, but no one imagined that the fables of Ade were a sort of landmark—the farewell to a simpler era, the hail to a sophistication even then in the bud.

Beveridge passed out officially in the fury and tumult of the Bull Moose carnival. Yet as ex-Senator he has performed, possibly, a lasting work in his scholarly "Life of John Marshall." He has another book, too, bearing his name, "The Spirit of the Times," being a corral of orations that might better have been left muzzling at large. But his Marshall biography would have made him the victor in tomorrow's voting in the Indiana of the cultural complex.

Beveridge's opponent, Senator New, a candidate for renomination, has made no impression on the public mind in his Washington career. He is, however, a practical politician, the son of a practical politician, and the Harding administration, it is said, while maintaining an outward show of neutrality, will most cordially welcome New's return.

What of Indiana? Is it a State of ink pots or of flesh pots? That is the embarrassing and significant question which the Hoosiers must answer in choosing between Beveridge and New.

THE PRESIDENTIAL RECEPTION.

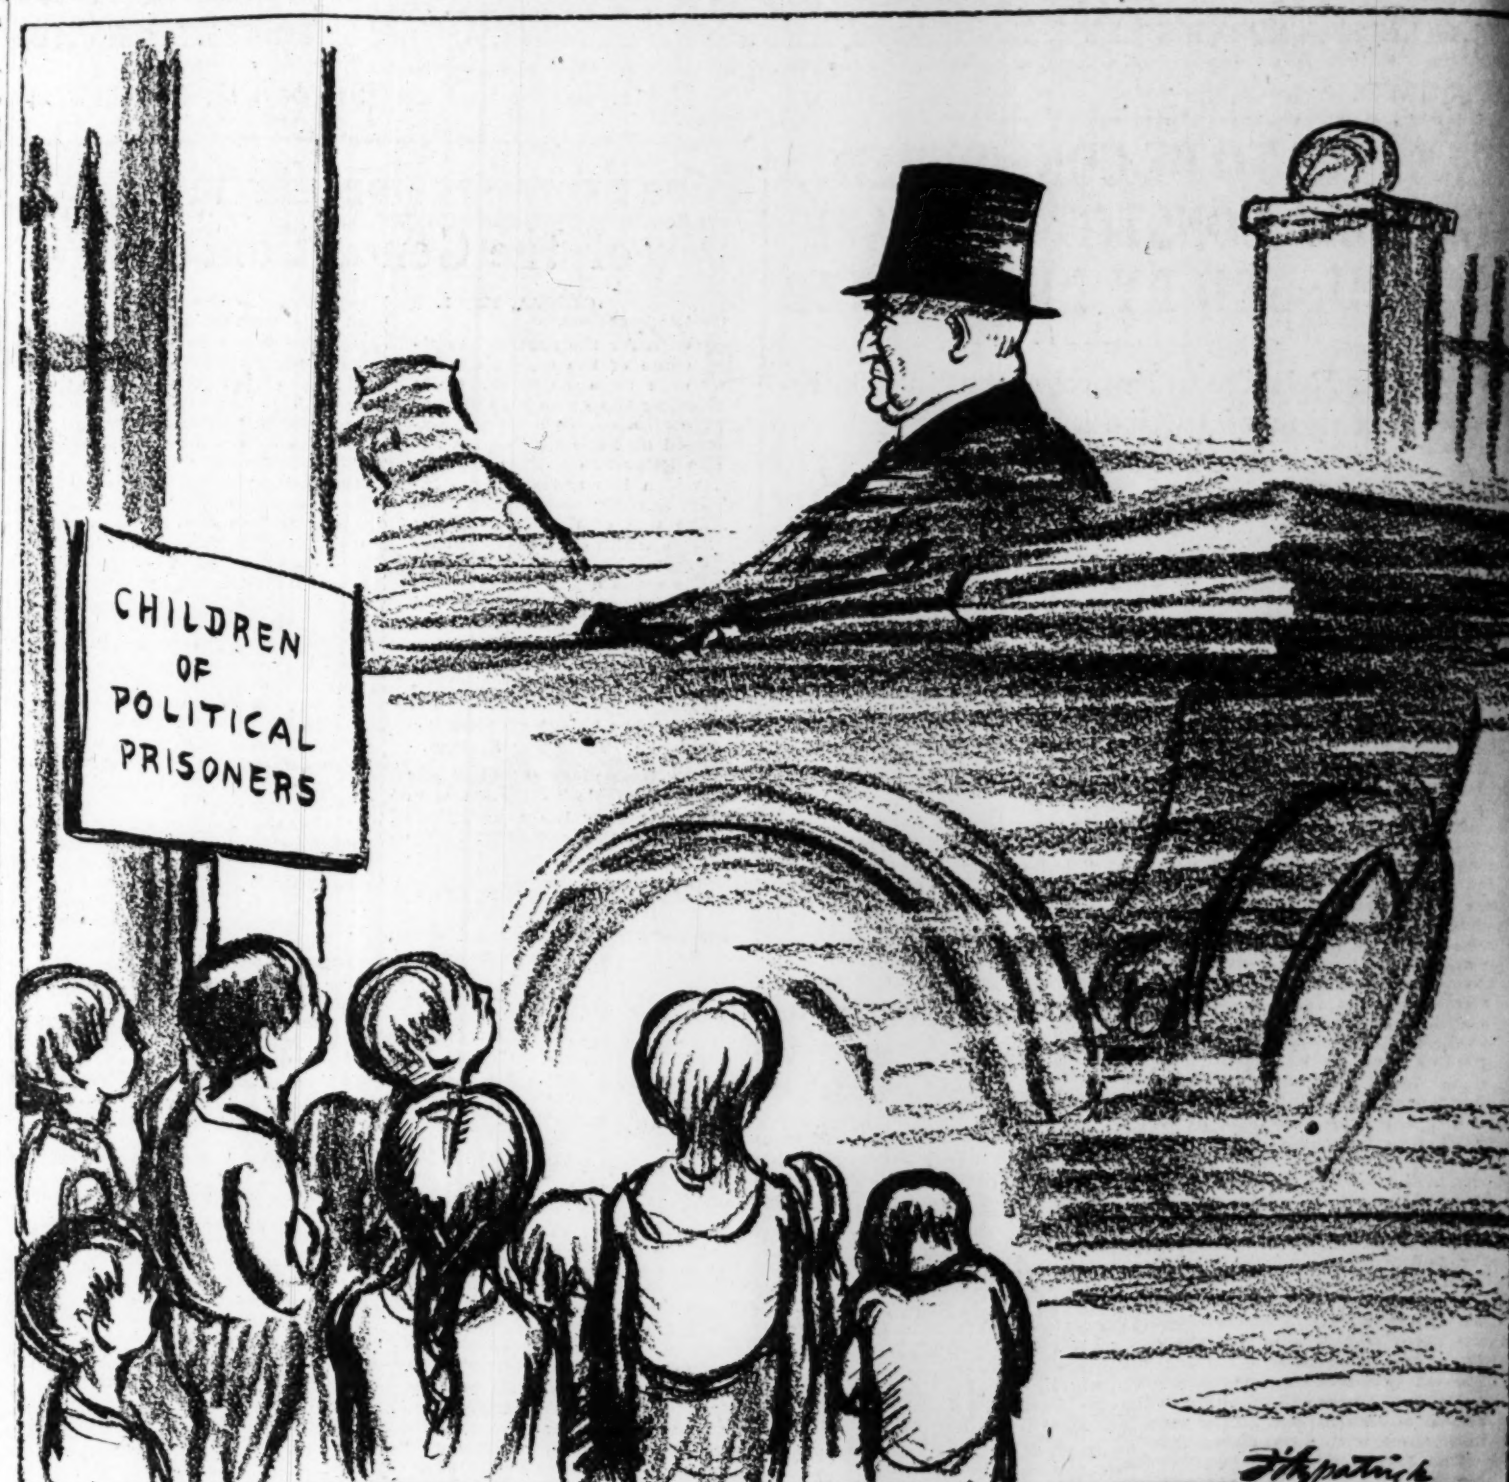

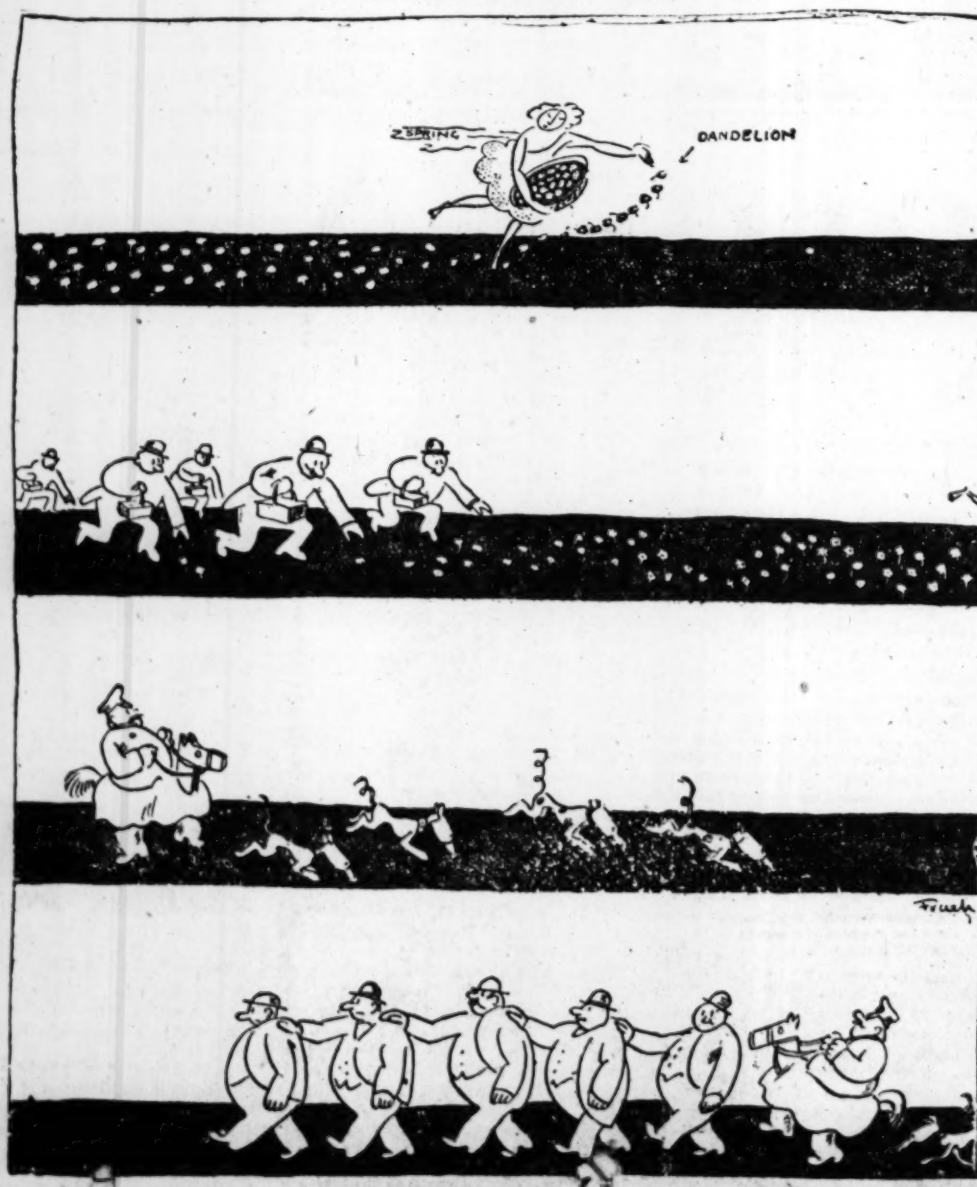

In not receiving at the White House the delegation of the "children's crusade" President Harding forewent an opportunity to do a gracious act. It would not have been expected that a President's reasons for executing the law would have been swayed by a purely emotional appeal. It might have been, and we daresay, was expected that he receive the delegation, accept its petition with the usual presidential courtesy and give assurance of his due consideration.

To refer the "crusaders" to the Department of Justice as a matter of administrative routine was to ignore any distinction between their petition and petitions in behalf of the ordinary criminal convict. The President knows that the law liberties cases are entitled to a distinction. He admitted as much when he pardoned Debs. What is true of the Debs case is true of the other war cases where there was not actual violence or incitement to it.

Since the end of the war there has been general amnesty for prisoners who expressed views displeasing to the Governments of the other nations which fought to make the world safe for democracy. It has remained for America alone to permit precaution in war to run into persecution in peace.

LET us consider that symbol of our feverish age, the motorist. How he dashes about. With what impatience he waits for passengers to alight from a street car.

How he glares at the traffic cop, waiting the signal to proceed. In what unseeing he traverses the country roads, and how lost to him because of his fever are the pastoral charms of pleasant St. Louis County.

Say his shortcomings generally. Can you imagine this: On yesterday the head of a family rode out on the St. Charles Road. He had mamma with him and half a dozen children. Indeed, a Fordful.

They were in the country. Holstein cattle and all that. The wild crabapple is in bloom. You know what that is—or what it was before the automobile fever hit us.

Good road, that St. Charles road. And what was Papa doing? You know very well. In Papa's eyes was a joyous frenzy. In Mamma's eyes was undisguised terror. The children wailed. Everybody held on for dear life. Dear God, what a life!

A truly terrifying scene, dear reader, take it from us. Thus on they swept, past field and stream. Past spring in her loveliness. Past calm or restraint. To what end? Who knows? No end at all, so far as anybody can make out.

Day by day. All day and all night. Never still. Never seeming to get where we are going or to find what we seek. Each hastening to his little nothings. Each hurrying desperately. Each later apparently than before we had automobiles.

Meanwhile, Spring is here. But who has time to look? The beginnings of jazz music can be traced back to barbaric times, says a famous violinist. Maybe that's why the majority of people are so wild about it.

A Nebraska farmer's hog swallowed a wallet containing $198. Who said there wasn't any money in hogs these days?

Br'er Bryan's record as to peace and war is so consistent that if one is not a follower of the Br'er he hurts one to look at it. He thinks Mr. Harding ought to forget our differences as to the League of Nations and get someone over to the Genoa conference before Europe falls fighting again, which looks to us like getting the week started about where it ought to begin.

It looks as if Mr. Gompers had dragged bolshevism into the brier shop.

ARE CHICAGO CLERKS SMART—OR NOT? (Monroe County, Mo. Appeal.)

H. A. Smith of Flint, Mich., became entangled in the Chicago police net last week. He was arrested in a department store on charges of attempting to pass worthless checks. Smith, when he entered the store to get a "new rug," had, according to the police, the makings of a bribe and a demeanor of what he represented himself to be—an awkward rustic.

But he didn't have the inside information on hogs. His purchase amount to $37.50. He handed the clerk a check for $100. "How are the Duro-Jerseys these days?" asked the department manager. He was told that they were "not good" as much in butter fat as they should, but run to milk.

"And the Poland Chinas?" suggested the manager. "I ain't had much time to keep up my reads" on the foreign politics," volunteered the bumpkin. "Call the house detective," said the manager, who knew his hogs.

The MIRROR of PUBLIC OPINION

This column is designed to reproduce without bias the latest comment by the leading publicists, newspapers and periodicals on the questions of the day.

THE RUSSO-GERMAN TREATY.

From the Chicago Tribune. GENOA dispatches report that Tchitcherin and Rathenau, foreign ministers and delegates of Russia and Germany respectively, have concluded a treaty which nullifies the Brest-Litovsk treaty, recognizes the Lenin government, re-establishes diplomatic relations, and cancels outstanding debts and claims between the two countries. A trade treaty is also reported. If this report is authentic, it records the most important event since the Versailles treaty, with the possible exception of the naval limitation and four-power treaties negotiated at Washington. The development, though momentous, is not surprising. Many thoughtful observers have long predicted that the persistent exclusion of Russia and Germany from the councils of the Powers would result in forcing them into friendly relations and co-operation. The reported treaty does not complete an alliance, but it lays the necessary foundation for one, and an aggressive alliance between the two greatest economic and military potentialities in Europe would present a problem to the rest of the world compared to which the menace of the former Prussian militarist imperialism would seem inconsiderable. That it is possible at this stage to prevent or even to control a Russo-German rapprochement seems to us most unlikely. But certainly either as an industry, a business or a profession, than it ever was before, for the reason that newspapers generally are larger and more prosperous than in olden days, and there are more of them. It is a better field for the ambitious young man who is endowed with the necessary talent for the work than ever before. If gifted in salesmanship, the business departments of the daily papers will pay him well, and nothing but his personal deficiencies can hinder his steady progress upward until his income grows into the five and six figure class. If gifted as writer or executive, the news and editorial departments can do a very good part for him, a good enough part, at least, to justify him in deciding to follow "journalism." Numerous colleges are giving young men and women special training in newspaper work, and the papers are taking these graduates and "whipping them into shape" expeditiously, except those who misjudge the degree of their newspaper talents. Of course, these are dropped in time. From the ranks of working newspaper men graduate probably 95 per cent of our magazine writers and others who are entitled to the pleasant designation of "author." But unless the beginner is prepared to give himself wholly and unreservedly to his occupation, he is willing to be subject to call at inconvenient hours to make up newspaper offices when seeking a job to work out his career.

NEWSPAPER WORK.

From the Montgomery Advertiser. THE official classification of journalism given by the Government is acceptable to the newspaper fraternity. The classification was inevitable, even though newspaper making is not exclusively a profession nor exclusively a business. It is a combination of both—except where one does nothing but write for the paper with which he is connected. Then he is practicing a "learned profession." It will do the newspaper world good to accept "journalism" as a learned profession, and believe that the compliment is not undeserved. It will make newspaper workers perk up, and those who do not now take their work as seriously as they should will realize the dignity attached to their calling and their pride in it will grow. Newspaper making is more important either as an industry, a business or a profession, than it ever was before, for the reason that newspapers generally are larger and more prosperous than in olden days, and there are more of them. It is a better field for the ambitious young man who is endowed with the necessary talent for the work than ever before. If gifted in salesmanship, the business departments of the daily papers will pay him well, and nothing but his personal deficiencies can hinder his steady progress upward until his income grows into the five and six figure class. If gifted as writer or executive, the news and editorial departments can do a very good part for him, a good enough part, at least, to justify him in deciding to follow "journalism." "THE GOOD PROVIDER" A REALISTIC PICTURE

"Foolish Wives" Gives Eric von Stroheim a Chance to Repel in Double Role of Producer and Leading Actor.

FANNY HURST'S screen story, "The Good Provider," at the Missouri Theater this week, is a realistic picture of the way in which an American wife and her children sometimes prey upon the husband and father. The film is a companion piece to "Humoresque," the casts being almost identical. Dore Davidson and Vera Gordon are starred.

Julius Binswanger and wife, from Russia and the Manhattan tenement district, have arrived at Newton, a rural town. In a few years the pack peddler is a main street merchant, and Izzy and Pearl, the children, are a comely pair of youths longing for the city.

Binswanger doesn't want to go back to the city; he wants to sit on his own front porch, smoking, his white cat, and watching the robins on his lawn. The children, however, enlist their mother, and poor Julius finds himself installed in an uncomfortable apartment hotel, under ruinous expense. His protests are unheeded. He always has complained of expense. His wife, capable and, save where her children are concerned, devoted to his best interests, scoffs at his remonstrances, and admonishes him to give his children their chance.

He does, Pearl, it is obvious, will soon be engaged. The stricken father turns upon his family. "Where should I get it?" he snarls. "Cut it from my heart? Wolves! Pack of wolves that you are! You have done for me! You wouldn't listen, and now I'm finished! I'm bankrupt!" and he staggers from their dumfounded presence.

But the habit of the victim is strong upon him. There remains one more way to give them money. They have had everything but his life—he prepares to contribute that. A fortunate interruption changes the course of affairs, and Julius soon is back home with a chastened family.

The fact that his name, in this picture, was Julius Binswanger, signifies nothing; it might have been Smith or Brown without detracting from the accuracy of the picture of American domestic life. A continuous series of whimsical subtitles lift the story, many times, to a fine plane of humor. The picture of Davidson in the paternal role is superb.

Walter Hiers, a really funny comedian, appears personally and makes a short talk.

"Foolish Wives" Spectacular Melodrama.

"Foolish Wives," or what was left of it after the cutters and the censors got through with it, is the week's feature at the New Grand Central, West End Lyric and Capitol theaters. Eric von Stroheim, who produced it and plays the leading role, is fond of advertising himself as "the man you will love to hate." He sees himself as the arch-villain of melodrama and he thrives on himself. Adverse criticism is music to his ears.

Carrying his genius for the repulsive into the production field, he has made a picture which is repellent. As it remains after being cut down from 30 or more reels to 12, it is a creaky, jerky melodrama, which selects an American wife as the foolish one who is a ridiculously easy dupe of an adventurer who poses as a Russian nobleman.

It would be quite easy to reverse Von Stroheim's favorite slogan and make it "the man you will hate to love." In his character as the bogus prince his appearance and manner are such that it must indeed be a foolish wife who would let him get within speaking distance, to say nothing of the hand-kissing distance. The bestial impulses of the picture are the keynote of play which trails off into lurid melodrama whose climax is an unrealistic fire scene, where the heroine, if she deserves that name, jumps into a net from a tower to which the villain has lured her. The Monte Carlo scenes, made in California, are elaborate, but not superior to similar scenes in other pictures. There are some good groupings in the gambling room scenes.

Why Enterprise Flour is worth more

VALIER'S Enterprise Flour is milled from only the creamy-white centers of fine, strong-gluten hard wheat. Such wheat is very scarce this year due to adverse weather conditions. Every bushel costs a big premium. So you'd expect Enterprise to cost a few cents more than ordinary flour milled from ordinary wheat. But you'd also expect it to produce better baking. And it certainly does—unusually fine, even-textured, full-flavored baking—always.

P. S. Valier's Enterprise Flour has concentrated strength. Eight or even less cups of Enterprise go as far as nine of ordinary flour. Use less flour when you bake with Enterprise.

Illinois Central System Clears Up Point About Railway Net Income

The net railway operating income of the Class I railroads of the United States for 1921 was at the rate of 3.31 per cent upon their tentative valuation as established by the Interstate Commerce Commission for rate-making purposes. Many have construed this to mean that the railroads realized a net income of 3.31 per cent available for dividends, enlargements and improvements. This is far from being true. There is a great difference between "net railway operating income" and "net income."

Accounting methods are prescribed for the railroads by the Interstate Commerce Commission, and they are uniform for all railroads. After all operating expenses and taxes have been provided for, and uncollectible accounts have been deducted, and after funds have been set aside for the payment of rentals on equipment and joint facilities, the balance left over from revenues is called "net railway operating income," which was for 1921 the 3.31 per cent referred to. Most railroads have some income from sources other than railway operations, such as interest and dividends on securities owned, which, added to the "net railway operating income," constitutes what is known as "gross income."

There are certain fixed charges, however, which must be paid before the "net income" is established, chief among these being interest on the bonds and the rental of leased lines. After making deductions for these, it is estimated that there was practically nothing left of either the "net railway operating income" of 3.31 per cent or the "gross income." In other words, the railroads had no "net income" for 1921.

Some railroads fared better than others during 1921, just as some business men and farmers fared better than others. Preferable location, foresighted management, superior machinery with which to work—these are elements which have their influence in the showing made by a railroad, as they have in every other business enterprise.

The railroads cannot serve the public adequately unless they are able to enlarge and improve their properties as the requirements of the country for transportation service develop. In order for the railroads to grow, their securities must be attractive to investors, for the funds they receive from the issuance of securities are used in improving their properties.

The Illinois Central System, in common with other railroads, is striving to render a service of satisfaction. It is eager to continue to improve and enlarge its facilities, so that its plant may always be a little in advance of the needs of its patrons. An overloaded machine is never efficient, and if the overloading continues for any length of time the machine must necessarily deteriorate.

This statement is made in the interest of a better understanding of railway problems. We ask that our patrons view the railway problem in its true light; that they realize that every obstacle placed in the path of railway progress rebounds against them, as much as against the railroads themselves, and that the interests of the railroads and the interests of the public are inseparable.

Constructive criticism and suggestions are invited.

C. H. MARKHAM,
President, Illinois Central System.

REED'S STAND ON SMITH-TOWNER BILL COMMENDED BY ARCHBISHOP

Eleventh Annual Conference of Catholic Charities at the Odéon.

The eleventh annual conference of Catholic charities was held yesterday at the Odéon. The annual report was read and Archbishop Gleason spoke on the function of charitable institutions.

He commended Senator Reed's stand against the Smith-Towner bill, saying that its provision for public care of mothers was a blow at the home. He said that "so-called scientific social workers," while decrying encouragement of dependence of poor by institutions, apply to institutions with their poor.

The quarterly meeting of the Society of St. Vincent de Paul was held and holy communion was administered yesterday at the Church of the Holy Name, Grand and Baring avenues. Expenditures of the society for three months were reported at $20,963, which aided 3573 persons in 1001 families.

It was erroneously stated in the Post-Dispatch yesterday that $180,000 was expended last year by the Catholic Charities in salaries. The statement should have been that the work done by the sisters would have cost that much if salaries had been paid.

PUBLIC BARRED FROM MOUNDS BEING EXCAVATED IN ILLINOIS

Archaeologist in Charge Says Much Damage Has Been Done to Work.

The crowds going to the excavations in the Cahokia group of mounds in St. Clair and Madison counties, Illinois, have become so large that Warren K. Moorehead, archaeologist, conducting the explorations for the University of Illinois, today said he was compelled to exclude the general public from the work.

"We appreciate the interest shown," Moorehead said, "but the visit of several hundred persons yesterday to the digging resulted in caved trenches, the pulling up of survey stakes and other very material damage. Consequently only those persons known by me to have a scientific interest and who have received invitations will be permitted in the vicinity of the mounds."

A week ago Sunday nearly 1000 persons ran over the mounds, with danger to themselves and damage to the survey.

CHILD CRUSADERS VISIT CHURCH, BUT DON'T SEE HARDING

Children Seeking Clemency for Fathers Held as Political Prisoners Wait Outside for President.

MRS. O'HARE WEEPS AT ACTION OF POLICE

Officers Said Fire Regulations Barred Children at Time Chief Executive Was Worshipping.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. 1.—Members of the "children's crusade," appealing for release of political prisoners, were prevented today by policemen from entering Calvary Baptist Church, where President Harding was worshipping. Fire regulations, according to the police, did not permit the admittance of any more persons, the church being crowded when the 27 children arrived. The party was accompanied by Frank P. O'Hare of St. Louis and Mrs. W. B. Hough, who has a son serving sentence for alleged violation of the espionage law. They arrived 15 minutes after the time when reservations not taken are thrown open to the public. At the front door they were stopped by a policeman until an usher came out. According to O'Hare, the usher at first agreed to take charge of the children, but was prevented by the policemen, who asserted that they should remain outside. "If you want to see the President why don't you go to the White House?" O'Hare quoted a policeman as saying. "This is a church, isn't it?" he said. "They don't want to see the President, they want to see God." Denied They Came Because of Harding.

O'Hare flatly denied the children were taken to Calvary Baptist Church because the President belongs to that congregation. He said they intended to remain here for some time and to worship each Sunday, making the rounds of all the denominations represented in the delegation. The children were taken to a side entrance, where they entered a separate room. Juvenile services were being held and yesterday was "Humane Sunday," the speaker admonishing the children to refrain from hurting animals.

O'Hare said he went to the side entrance to prevent an outbreak among the children at the front. He said he saw 10 or 15 persons enter the front door just before the children arrived. Mrs. O'Hare wept. "The children are not so well dressed," said Mrs. O'Hare, leader of the "crusade." "Some of them are from the cotton fields. The policemen intimated that the crowd was the only thing that kept the children from the church. I said it seemed to me that some good Christian might step out and let the children in. When we got into the juvenile section I cried because I thought the children had been barred out. I really do not know now whether they were or not, for, of course, the church might have been filled to the limit."

When the juvenile services were concluded the children took up places on the opposite side of the street and waited until President and Mrs. Harding came out to their automobile.

KROGER'S

The Service Rendered by Specialized Knowledge

CRUDE petroleum, the raw material employed by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana), is so varied a material, that to manufacture products of standard quality, requires a profound knowledge of petroleum chemistry and the utmost skill in refining. Long experience has proved that the greater the scientific knowledge employed the more perfect will be the products manufactured.

The responsibility for the manufacturing of Standard Oil products is placed upon the shoulders of men trained to recognize the delicate variance of each complicated operation. This work also is checked carefully by highly trained scientists employed in the laboratories.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) bases its standards of manufacture upon the service which its products shall render the consumer. The maintenance of such standards is dependent upon the technical knowledge of the experts who formulate them.

There is no factor in the activities of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) which yields greater benefit to the consumer, and which is followed more insistently, than that the men who have charge of each process must have highly specialized knowledge of every step in the process under their jurisdiction.

This fact is so well established that each division of the manufacturing department has come to be a separate enterprise, and because of this extreme specialization every product coming from the refinery is in effect a primary product.

For instance, the department which is responsible for manufacturing Polarine and other greases is in charge of men who have made a profound study of lubricants of this class: men who know intimately every step and every reaction which is necessary if these lubricants are to meet the high standards of quality which the laboratories have set.

And so it is in every department of the organization. The men in charge of the several departments are recognized by the industry generally as masters of the intricate problems of manufacturing and marketing.

It is this fact which has made this Company a leader in its field.

SEVERED'S DOUBLE AND A SACRIFICE GIVE BROWNS TWO RUNS

By Joseph F. Holland, Of the Post-Dispatch Sport Staff.

SPORTSMAN'S PARK, May 1.—The Browns were after a clear title to first place when they took the field against the Cleveland Indians in the final game of their home stay today.

Ray Kolp, who pitched one inning yesterday, was Lee Fohl's pitching selection. He was opposed by George Uhle.

The scoreboard showed that the New York Yanks lost to Boston, 6 to 3. A victory for the Browns and a defeat for New York will send St. Louis East in first place by a full game.

Manager Speaker was out of the lineup and Grane played center. Speaker has gone to Cleveland, where President Dunn of the Cleveland club is said to be seriously ill. The attendance was about 8000.

FIRST INNING. CLEVELAND—Jimmie fanned and was thrown out. Severed to Sister. Wamby popped to McManus. Grane rolled to Sister. NO RUNS.

BROWNS.—Tobin fanned. Wood rolled to Wamby. Sister singled to left. Williams bounced to McInnis. NO RUNS.

SECOND INNING. CLEVELAND—Williams made a sensational catch of McInnis' long drive. Williams ran to the first line for Sewell's short fly. Gardner singled to center. Wood was called out on strikes. NO RUNS.

BROWNS.—Jacobson singled to center and took second on Grane's fumble. Severed doubled to right center, scoring Jacobson. Gerber, attempting to sacrifice, bunted safely past Uhle. Severed taking third. McManus sent a long sacrifice fly to Grane. Severed scoring after the catch. Kolp sacrificed. O'Neill to McInnis. Tobin fanned to Jimmie. 2-0 BROWNS.

Derby Dark Horse to Start for First Time. Tomorrow

Although he has not been in a race, as yet, Busy American is considered a possible, even probable starter, in the $50,000 classic. In his workouts he is said to have outstepped anything in the barn of Owner E. R. Bradley. It was from this stable that last year's Derby surprise came, when Be-have Yourself and Black Servant ran first and second.

Detroit Fails to Get Man to First As Rookie Hurls

Robertson One of Six Big Leaguers in History to Accomplish This Feat.

CHICAGO, May 1.—Charley Robertson, Chicago American pitcher, who yesterday inscribed his name on baseball's record for the most perfect games when he pitched a perfect game against Detroit, is a rookie, so far as major league baseball is concerned, but he is no juvenile wonder. It is the try in the big league for the man who became the first pitcher in nearly half a century to turn back 27 consecutive batters.

Robertson has been pitching winning ball in minor leagues for several seasons. His first chance in the White Sox in 1917 from the Sherman, Tex., club, and was turned back for seasoning. In 1918 he came up again. After the spring training Manager Gleason decided he was not ready and notified Sherman to manage of him. The Sox got no response from Sherman and farmed Robertson to Minneapolis of the American Association under an optional agreement.

Bought for $7000.

The Sox paid Sherman $250 for Robertson in 1918, with an additional $1750 to be paid if they kept him. Apparently there was no Sherman club and the money was not paid. This spring the Sherman club came into play, demanded the payment, and the Sox, rather than fight the case, settled.

Robertson has won three starts this season. Manager Gleason is said to have expected him to win more games by a fair arm and a good head than by starting with no-hit exhibitions. Atop Robertson's name in the no-hit, no-man-to-first column are these few names emblazoned: George Stinney, St. Louis, July 15, 1874, against Hartford.

John Richardson, Worcester, June 12, 1880, against Cleveland.

John M. Ward, Providence, June 17, 1880, against Buffalo.

Cy Young, Boston, May 2, 1904, against Philadelphia.

Adrie Joss, Cleveland, Oct. 2, 1904, against Chicago.

Only Six Balls Hit to Outfield.

Robertson was given a clean sheet, particularly by McQuillan and Collins whose snappy fielding retired six batters at first. Collins also retired four on flies. Only six balls were driven far into the outfield and these were gathered in by Honopol and Smith with little difficulty. Robertson fanned six Detroiters as part of his contribution to a perfect day's work.

Manager Cobb called in two pinch hitters in the ninth in an effort to stop Robertson, but they went down as their teammates did before them. Here's how the 27 batters were set down:

Struck out—Six opponents.

Retiring strike on outfield fly.

Four men popped out to Collins.

McQuillan caught one pop.

Catcher Schalk caught a pop foul.

Nine were put out at first base.

Was Robertson's Feet Tainted?

Robertson accomplished his feat in a manner that was held to be suspicious by the Detroit team and by the umpire Nalbin as well. Time after time the umpire inspected the ball and threw some of them out. Once it was said the balls bore evidence of discoloration with a viscous, oily substance, and that Umpire Nalbin would submit several balls to Sam Johnson.

Freak deliveries are no longer permissible in the American League.

LAYTON AND MCCURT MEET TONIGHT IN FIRST BLOCK OF TITLE MATCH

SEBASTIA, Mo., May 1.—All arrangements had been made today for the world's championship three-cushion billiard match here tonight between Johnny Layton, champion, and Charles McCourt of Pittsburgh, Pa. challenger. The match is to be held at a local hotel. This is probably the smallest city ever to be selected for the world's three-cushion championship, according to sport followers. Judging to the fact that this is Layton's home, it is predicted that the attendance will be very large.

The match is to be of 100 points, played in three blocks of 40 points each. The winner will receive a purse of $100 in addition to the entire gate receipts and a diamond emblem.

UMPIRE MAL EASON IS ATTACKED BY FANS AND LOS ANGELES PLAYERS

LOS ANGELES, Cal., May 1.—Players used their fists and fans used pop bottles in an attack on Umpire Mal Eason in yesterday's second game between Sacramento and Los Angeles of the Pacific Coast League, but police intervention saved the umpire from serious injury.

Eason's decision were protested by Centerfielder McCabe and Catcher Baldwin of the Los Angeles team and the altercation led to the use of fists. Officers stopped the affair and after the game, escorted Eason from the field. Los Angeles won, 4 to 3.

COCHRAN AND PETERSON START BALKLINE MATCH

Walker Cochran, who will try to wrest the world's 15.2 balkline championship from Jake Schaefer at Chicago, May 16, 17 and 18, will start a three-point exhibition match with Charles Peterson at Peterson's parlors tonight. The pair will play 100 points each night.

For the first week of his practice here Cochran had a grand average of 55.50-54, while his high run was 146.

ROUSING RECEPTION IS ACCORDED DEMPSEY ON HIS ARRIVAL IN BERLIN

BERLIN, May 1.—Jack Dempsey received a rousing reception on his arrival in Berlin yesterday. German youths eagerly pushing through the crowds to get one look at him, with the same enthusiasm they once devoted to military parades.

Thousands of people crowded the station platform, cheering and blacking the way to a cab. Even the champion, accustomed as he is to being welcomed with such greetings, expressed surprise at the warmth of his welcome.

Jack has no plans, but German boxing promoters will do their utmost to bring him before the German fans before he leaves for London on Wednesday.

Tomorrow the city of Berlin will give him an official reception and luncheon in the city hall. Chief Mayor Boese will personally have charge of the ceremonies.

EVANS COMING HERE TO STUDY NEW GOLF COURSE

Charles "Chick" Evans, the highest ranking United States amateur golfer, communicated last week with the North Hills Country Club, advising he was much interested in the activities of the organization. Evans advised he would make trip from Chicago to St. Louis as soon as he could arrange with a view of going over the North Hills grounds to inspect the layout of the three courses which will be under construction soon.

According to figures received at the town office of the North Hills Country Club in the Arcade Building, golf players are growing rapidly in St. Louis. "One of our charter members," said Harry H. Hawk, principal leader of the club, "who is head of the sporting goods department of one of our largest department stores, stated they have sold 1250 sets of clubs to new players in St. Louis in one week recently."

Pfeffer's Shutout Victory Over Alexander Encourages Cards; Hard Hitting Helps

Success of Veteran Hurler Most Pleasing Event of Recent Tour, Which Saw St. Louisans Win Four and Lose Five Games—Team Is Due to Open Home Stand Here Wednesday.

By J. Roy Stockton,
Of the Post-Dispatch Sport Staff.

CHICAGO, May 1.—Jeff Pfeffer's shutout pitching and a recurrence of Cardinal batting fever, which apparently manifests itself every other day, enabled the Rickermans to gain an even break in the series with the Cubs and to finish their first trip through the West just over the .500 mark. The team has won eight games and lost seven, four of the eight victories and five of the seven defeats having been scored on the road.

Only a lamentable lack of efficiency in making the hits and runs do a maximum of good prevented the Knot Hurlers from concluding their journey with a clean sweep of the four-game series at Chicago. In the quartet of engagements they made 28 runs to the Cubs' 13, and 43 hits to the 25 Chicago bingles; but despite that great superiority in their attack, the Rickermans had to accept an even break with the Bruins.

Today and tomorrow are open dates for the Cardinals. They will play an exhibition game at Bloomington, Ill., this afternoon and tomorrow at Springfield, after which they return home, to inaugurate their second stand at Sportsman's Park. The Reds will call Wednesday to open a five-game series and the Cardinals will remain at home until May 28, when they start on their first swing around the circuit, including the East.

Cards Show Poor Defense. During the journey just concluded of statistical data suggested by the team's record this far is that in 1931, out of the first 15 games played, the Cardinals lost 12. It was well along in May before they scored their eighth victory. In other words, with such a start last season, half of the 1931 world series would have been played in St. Louis last fall.

Today only the Giants and the Cubs are ahead of the Rickermans. New York belongs up there and that is the reason the Cardinals must beat to win the pennant. Pittsburgh will give some trouble, but the Pirates are front runners. When you get up close and look 'em in the eye they stop singing their songs, forget about their clown stunts and wilt. That is the story of the 1931 race and the Pirates need not be feared so much.

The Cubs are up there, but they can't remain. Bill Killebrew has the team doing just what he wants it to do. He has young ballplayers and they listen to him. That co-operation and unity of purpose and style has done much to keep the team together, but it has not the class to remain. Terry will take Krug's place at second base, and Killebrew is not hitting enough to hold his job at third. Stutz is a wonderful fielder, but his batting form is wrong and the team needs punch, something he does not furnish at bat.

Miller in left is fast and not a good fielder and, though applauded here as a great slugger, hasn't hit a lick against the Cardinals. The Cubs always have done well in the spring and their spurt this year is not taken seriously, even by Chicago writers, who usually are partisan.

Pfeffer's performance in turning in their first shutout victory of the year for the Cardinals, certainly was welcomed. The big right-hander ought to win a string of games for the Rickermans this year, and yesterday he assuredly indicated that he was ready to work regularly.

Alexander Not So Great. The mighty Alexander, who had won three straight games, was the victim of the Cardinal bombardment. But then he never has been a hard man for the Rickermans to beat. He came to St. Louis once with 10 straight on his scalp and was knocked for a double row of extra base wallows. Yesterday he was slammed all over the park. The first four batters to face him hit safely and he retired after the seventh, after the Cards had collected 11 hits and six runs. Osborne succeeded Alex and was belted for three hits and four runs in two innings, bases on balls and errors aiding the Cardinals.

It was the warmest day of the stay in Chicago and about 25,000 persons attended. The overflow extended all around the outfield, and each of the six Cardinal two-baggers was hit into the crowd. Eddie Ainsmith, who got a homer in each of the three other games at Chicago, continued his fine hitting, getting two in three times at bat. Clemens has a real rival on the catching staff now. Lavan is still underweight and his health is not what it should be, but he is improving and his fielding has been a big aid in Cincinnati and Chicago.

Stock is in better condition than he ever was at this stage of the season and is playing better baseball than he ever played before. Horns-

Tendler Alters Style of Attack

Body Punching Brings Accusation of Hitting Below the Belt in Two Bouts.

By DAVIS J. WALSH.

NEW YORK, May 1.—Body punching, according to a man close to the Glassman menage in Philadelphia, has been taken up by Lew Tendler, almost to the exclusion of all other manner of attack, to save those worthy brittle hands so they may be used to better effect on Benny Leonard's jaw.

Tendler has taken part in a number of bouts in his vicinity recently and on two occasions at least he was accused of having hit opponents low. These incidents are mentioned because they seem to bear out the contention that the left-handed gentleman from Philadelphia has been forced to alter his style of fighting.

It is difficult to imagine a challenger trying to beat Leonard down with a body attack. This would mean that Tendler would have to wear a rushing game to get inside Leonard's rapier left, and the man attempting that is likely to have a head left on his shoulders at the end of six rounds just as Charley Paddock is likely to be run down by a steam roller.

We are of course assuming that Tendler and Leonard will meet ultimately. Right now the bout is being smoked up with rare menace, what, with one word leading to another and the doubt always in the air as to whether Leonard could dispose of this persistent young man with the same facility with which he tells you about it.

by's fielding now is not a bit below his hitting. He is certainly a mighty asset.

Fournier Is Overweight. Fournier can spare 15 pounds and when he gets it he will be a work with morning and afternoon work at home he will hit harder and field with more grace. His fighting spirit, the desire to win is as good as ever and he ought to be in there every day. Regardless of the opposing pitcher.

Bill Doak delighted Rickney by suggesting that he'd like to start the series against the Reds, Wednesday, and the spillover artist may get the call. He has a tearable time. He thinks he has a dozen things wrong with his arm and various muscles, but nobody else on the team will believe him or sympathize with him.

BILLIARD PLAYERS ARE APPROACHING 4,000,000

There is little doubt that billiards is entitled to claim that, so far as the number of actual players is concerned, it is one of the greatest of all sports. It is impossible to figure accurately just how many players there are in this country, but C. P. Miller, vice president of the Brunswick-Balke-Collander company, has made an estimate based on the number of billiard tables in use in public rooms.

"I believe that 530,000 tables would be a conservative estimate," he said, "and since it is a known fact that each table, in order to pay, would have to have at least eight players, there must be close upon 4,000,000 actual players in this country."

King George of England has given permission for the Polytechnic Harriers Marathon race on Saturday, June 19, to start from the private grounds of Windsor Castle. The finish will be at Stamford bridge.

DERBY CANDIDATES GET SUNDAY WORKOUTS OVER THE LEXINGTON COURSE

Deadlock, Dick Finn and Rockmaster Gallop Exercise Miles in Good Time.

LEXINGTON, Ky., May 1.—Sunday found the horsemen around the Phoenix Hotel talking about the showing of Surf Rider and Bet Mosie, the two Derby candidates in Saturday's events, but Trainer Kay Spence was very much pleased with the race of the former. The son of Superman was practically left at the post and due to the fact that he had been trained to go a route, could not get up in time to head off the fast running Centimeter, who favors the six-furlong sprint.

Bet Mosie was up most of the way, in the Ben Ali handicap, but as the race went on she could not keep the pace set by the other horses.

Comment was heard on all sides over the showing of Lucky Hour, at Havre de Grace, Saturday.

John Finn worked, after the races, a mile in 1m. 41.1-5s. and could have done better if Jockey Murray, who had the leg up, had not run the horse up too close to a harrow and was forced to take the Dick Finnell colt wide at the head of the stretch.

IN THE WAKE OF THE BIG LEAGUES

Del Pratt, New York castoff, beat the Yankees with a home run in the eighth inning. Del should soon be promoted from the Yankee second team, otherwise the Boston Red Sox.

The Washington Senators climbed back in the first division after a brief sojourn in the depths below, the Senators scoring enough runs in the fourth to beat the Athletics.

Another well pitched game by Pete Donohue stalked the Cincinnati Reds to one of their very few victories, the Pirates failing to score until the ninth.

Jimmy Ring lost his first game of the season when the Dodgers knocked the Phillies off by a score of 4 to 0. Dazzy Vance's pitching was above reproach.

EVERETT SCOTT'S STRING OF GAMES REACHES 848

NEW YORK, May 1.—Everett Scott, Yankee shortstop, played his 848th consecutive major league game yesterday, a mark that surpasses by 271 games the best previous long-distance playing record. Scott started his streak in 1918, when he wore a Red Sox uniform.

The old record was made by George Pinckney, a third baseman, who played with Brooklyn in the American Association and National League. He participated in 877 games, from 1895 to 1899.

GOLFERS MUST ANSWER IN POLICE COURT TODAY

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, May 1.—Six golfers, making up two three-somes, played uneventfully to the thirteenth hole on the Evanston Community Course yesterday. Today they tell to a Police Court Judge what happened after that. It is said this is a part of it.

At that point a hothouse borders the course. Six balls misbehaved badly off the tee and six golfers climbed a fence to retrieve.

Robert F. Gloede and a staff of husky cohorts held them until police arrived and arrested the golfers on charges of disorderly conduct. Mr. Gloede said the golfers ruined $100 worth of shrubbery, and that the club has a rule against trespassing on its premises to recover badly-hit balls.

RELATIVELY QUIET STOCK MARKET; BONDS ARE FIRM

Oils and Independent Steel Shares Show Most Activity

—Foreign Exchange Market Reflects Waiting Attitude.

By Leonard Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, May 1.—The Evening Post, in its copyrighted financial review today, says:

"Although trading in stocks managed to take the new customary million share mark, the margin by which it did so was slight. Except for activity rising prices in oil shares and in those of the Canadian dollar companies which are mentioned in the consolidation quarters, the market was, in fact, relatively quiet and nowhere as far as price changes were concerned. Bonds, however, were firm, with strength in the local traction issues, the feature. Call money changed at 4 1/2 per cent. French francs and Italian lire did better, the former gaining 3 points at 9 1/2 cents and the latter picking up 4 1/2 points at 18 1/2 cents. The Canadian dollar was again noticeably strong, pushing forward to a new high of 28 1/2 cents, and the Chinese silver exchange was generally higher. Canadian dollars were slightly lower at 95 1/2 cents. The market altogether it is clear that this market started the new week in the same mood that has characterized it recently, that is one of quiet watchfulness with an undertone of confidence."

"For the first time in some weeks cotton was able to furnish a display of substantial strength. The oil market was quiet and the satisfactory situation at Genoa and in New England continued to be negative influences. In evidence and there was a greater disposition to take account of the new week in the situation with regard to floods in Mississippi Valley. Besides traders, the market started the new week in the same mood that has characterized it recently, that is one of quiet watchfulness with an undertone of confidence."

CHARLES J. LAMMERT ELECTED SECRETARY OF THE PAINTERS

Former President of Building Trades
Will Fill Unexpired Term in National Organization.

Charles J. Lammert, former president of the Building Trades Council, has been elected general secretary and treasurer of the Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators and Paper Hangers of America, embracing a membership of approximately 100,000 trades unionists employed in the three affiliated crafts. He will fill the unexpired term of J. C. Skemp of Lafayette, Ind., who was elected for a two-year term at the brotherhood's convention in Dallas, Tex., Dec. 23, last, and who recently resigned. Lammert's term will expire Dec. 23, 1923.

In accepting the new office Lammert was forced to resign the secretaryship of the Painters' District Council, which he has held for more than 20 years. He had been president of the Building Trades Council for 19 years when he resigned Feb. 15, following the action of the painters in accepting a 20 per cent reduction in wages.

Although the headquarters of the brotherhood is at Lafayette, Ind., Lammert's new duties will require his presence there a good deal of his time, he will continue his residence here.

"Have a Happy Time" Fashion News Notes

By WINFRED BLACK

THESE were the voices of happy birds, singing in an apple orchard in full bloom on a gay spring morning.

"Good-by—have a happy time!"—over and over they called to me till all the quaint old street echoed to the music of their youth and joy.

"Good-by—have a happy time!"—what a salutation and what a farewell.

Salutation and Farewell.

May neither of them ever speak it at the grave of one well loved. And yet—why not?

That hour must come to every one of us. Would it not be sweet if at the top of the hill, as we went down, we should hear the tones of those we love calling to us before we passed entirely out of view—"Good-by—have a happy time!"

It is a long hill we climb and some of us will not be sorry when we have turned the brow of it and started down the easy path.

"Good-by—have a happy time." From what loving hearts came that salutation and that farewell.

HAM CAKES

MAKE a stiff mashed potato mixture, adding an egg and two or three tablespoons of minced ham. Make into cakes like fish cakes, dip lightly in flour and fry a rich brown on both sides.

LONDON—The ribbon dress is a quaint affair. Over a foundation of white crepe marocain there hang as many black satin ribbons, three inches wide, as it is possible to hang upon one's figure. At the neck and waist these ribbons are fastened to a narrow jeweled band. From PARIS—Suede and kid are extensively used on certain types of spring coats. One such garment is a very wide box affair of beige suede. It is divided into wide panels by perpendicular bands of varnished brown ribbon. This ribbon is also laid in half a dozen bands around the wide cuffs and a dozen bands around the widely scalloped hem. The coat reaches almost to the knees.

NEW YORK—It is possible to match almost any costume in the new French necklaces, crystal tassels, earrings and other sparkling novelties. A little while ago it was difficult to find a henna shade in, for example, a tasseled earring. Today even the unusual tints of henna are duplicated in jewelry so that a gray with a touch of henna embroidery at the girdle, a gown that obviously needs brightening, can be supplied with exactly the right shade of necklace, plaque or shoulder ornament. Such a bit of jewelry, properly selected and rightly placed, is the making of many a namby-pamby dress.

Here Are New Salad Recipes for Early Spring Days

IN early spring there is nothing nicer for luncheon than a good salad of the hearty variety. There are many different dressings to use on these salads other than mayonnaise, which is expensive and troublesome to make. There are a number of made sauces, bottled or canned, which are worth a trial to find the best-liked brands.

Fish salads are excellent when well made, but if not liked, then vegetable or fruit mixtures make satisfactory salads. Chicken, turkey and duck, egg and veal, all make agreeable salad material when properly combined with other ingredients. A salad should be crisp, fresh and attractively served.

Turkey Salad.

Cut up enough cold turkey to make two cupsful, and free it from skin. Add to it one cupful of shoulder to wrist and from girdle to hem they hang floppily with a negligent sort of grace. At the hem they are not fastened but left free to flutter in any breeze.

PARIS—So large are hats this season when they aren't very tiny indeed, that one of them would cover a round card table top. A huge drooping shape of gray felt projects eighteen inches all around the wearer's head. In front at the top of its big sombrero crown it has a scarlet chopped celery, a tablespoonful of washed capers and one hard-boiled egg put through the ricer. Take a cupful of mayonnaise made with mustard and mix with fork and spoon all that the salad will take up, but do not make it too moist. The cook should use her own judgment when she sees how much dressing the meat takes up. Line the salad bowl with crisp beet leaves, put in the salad and garnish with stuffed olives. If liked, rub the bowl with a cut bud of garlic before putting in the salad, which will add a delicate flavor to the salad.

Salmon Salad.

Boil, drain and free from skin and bone a pound of fresh salmon or use a large can of salmon after draining it and freeing it from skin and bone. Peel, quarter, remove the seeds and cut fine one large cucumber. Chop enough celery to make a cupful. Squeeze the juice of a large onion and half a lemon over the fish. Toss the ingredients together and pour over them three tablespoonfuls of French dressing, then add a half cupful of mayonnaise made without mustard. Serve on lettuce leaves and garnish with stoned olives.

Deviled Egg Salad.

Boil six eggs hard, remove the yolks, and arrange the whites on lettuce leaves. Devil the egg yolks by adding to them four tablespoonfuls of heavy French dressing, a little red pepper, the juice of a small onion, a teaspoonful of sugar and a tablespoonful of mayonnaise. Fill the whites of the eggs with the mixture, heap with a little mayonnaise and garnish with stuffed olives. Allow two eggs to a portion for this hearty salad. Where a salad of this sort is used no meat dish is required.

Orange and Prune Salad.

Prepare four large, firm oranges and slice them. Stone and chop coarsely a half-pound of freshly-stewed prunes. Chop enough walnuts to make a quarter of a cupful. Arrange the orange slices on lettuce leaves, then sprinkle with the nuts. Beat the prunes into three-quarters of a cupful of mayonnaise made without mustard, and pour over the orange. Dust with paprika and garnish with sprays of watercress.

MY FAVORITE STORIES

By IRVIN S. COBB

WHERE THE POPULATION IS DENSE.

THE statement credited to a young woman worker with the Y. M. C. A. overseas in which she expressed her surprise to find that natives of Australia, whom she had encountered at the front, really spoke very good English, served to remind Will Hogg, the Texas oil man, of a remark which he overheard a fellow Texan make following the latter's homecoming from foreign service with the A. E. F.

The returned one, according to Hogg, was a typical son of the remote Panhandle. Somebody asked him, on the day of his arrival in his native village, what he thought of the French people.

"We'll," drawled the veteran, "I reckon on the whole they mean well, but they're powerful stupid—dumb, as you might say. Why, here they've been talkin' French all their lives and yet they couldn't understand as much of their own language as our fellows picked up in just two or three months over there."

MORE TRUTH THAN POETRY

By James J. Montague.

IT MUST BE SOMETHING ELSE
Though Bobbie Burns was not a man
To take his pleasures dry,
He came of a hard-headed clan
Uncommon shrewd and wily,
And when the highly gifted Scot
Made verse to flow and ripple,
We may be certain it was not
With tittle.

Lord Byron sometimes took a drink
His bitter lot to soften.
Indeed, we have been led to think
He took one rather often.
But when he tore his curly locks
To get his inspiration
He never got it through intemperance.

Though Shelley looked upon the cup
When sad and melancholic,
He didn't use his evenings up
In pleasures alcoholic.
His magic verse, in which we see
His skill and genius mingled,
We know were never penned when he Was jingled.

And so, though Mr. Quiller Couch
Insists when nations banish
The demon rum and cut out hootch
Their literature will vanish;
And though our poets may be slow
And lacking in ambition,
We don't believe it's due to prohibition.

METEOROLOGICAL NOTE.
It will always be foul weather if Germany and Russia get together.

NATURAL INDIGNATION.
Mr. Wilson has been repudiating
Mr. Tumulty. Evidently he at last made up his mind to read Mr. Tu-multy's biography of him.

FORESIGHT.
You never can tell what may happen, which is probably why Mr.
Dempsey has gone to England, where there are still a lot of shipyards a man could get a job in in case of war.

Too Much Excitement.

Making newspaper reporters out of college boys and girls is not without its trials and tribulations.
Dean Walter Williams of the University of Missouri School of Journalism will bear testimony to this fact. Once, he says, he sent a member of one of the reporting classes over to a nearby town to report a railroad wreck.

The press hour grew near and there was no story from the reporter. Dean Williams waited and waited for a report of the wreck to come in. Finally, in sheer desperation, he wired the student reporter, asking him what the trouble was and why he hadn't sent in his story. The reply came back:

"Too much excitement. Waiting in Chicago quiet down."—Harper's Magazine.

Prepared for the Worst.

Robinson's enemies declare that there is nothing he enjoys so much as putting other persons in the wrong. When thus engaged he loses all self on a sense of humor which is none too keen at the best of times.
On one occasion when he and his wife were making a trip through the Vermont mountains they were to be called at 5:30 in the morning to take an early train. Robinson awakened first, and, after a glance at his watch, fell back on his pillow with a groan that frightened his wife out of her slumbers.
"Here it is on the tick of half-past 5," he grumbled, in response to her troubled questions, "and if they don't call us within five minutes we shan't have time enough to get dressed and eat breakfast!"—Harper's Magazine.

A Safe Topic.

"You made a speech to your con-make any capital out of that."—Bir-
